NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION OF DEFENDANTS TO DISMISS THIRD AMENDED COMPLAINT

Hearing Date: July 7, 2014

Hearing Time: 1:30 p.m.

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on July 7, 2014 at 1:30 p.m. in the Edward R. Roybal Federal Building and United States Courthouse, Courtroom 880, located at 255 East Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012, or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, Pepper Hamilton LLP will and hereby does move for an Order dismissing Plaintiff's Third Amended Complaint without leave to amend. This Motion is made pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(1), 12(b)(6) and such other and further evidence and argument that the Court may accept.

On April 1, 2014, this Court granted Defendants' Motion to Dismiss the First Amended Complaint, in part, but permitted Plaintiff leave to amend. Dkt. No. 46. On April 26, 2014, Plaintiff filed a Second Amended Complaint. The parties held a "meet and confer" pursuant to Local Rule 7-3 on May 6, 2014 to discuss Defendants' Second Motion to Dismiss. Defendants agreed to allow Plaintiff to amend to address the issues raised during the "meet and confer." Dkt. No. 53. Plaintiff filed its Third Amended Complaint on May 9, 2014. Dkt. No. 54. Later that day, this Court granted the parties' Stipulation granting Plaintiff leave to amend. Dkt. No. 57.

This Motion is made following the conference of Counsel pursuant to Local Rule 7-3, which took place on May 6, 2014. More particularly, on May 6, 2014, Defendants "met and conferred" with Plaintiff regarding the Defendants' Second Motion to Dismiss. Defendants agreed to give Plaintiff an opportunity to address the deficiencies raised by Defendants and outlined in this Court's Order of April 1, 2014. Dkt. No. 46. For the reasons set forth in the attached Memorandum of Points and Authorities, Plaintiff's Third Amended Complaint did not cure the exact same deficiencies discussed during the "meet and confer." Further conference with Plaintiff and/or further permission to amend would be futile.

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

Defendants, Exida.com, LLC (“Exida”) and John Christman (“Christman”) (collectively, “Defendants”) move to dismiss Plaintiff, VBConversions, LLC’s (“VBC”) Third Amended Complaint on several grounds. First, VBC has failed to sue on a work that is registered with the U.S. Copyright Office, which is a prerequisite to initiating a civil action under the Copyright Act. Title 17 U.S.C. § 411(a). Second, VBC has alleged no facts relating to ownership of the software it sues upon and, therefore, lacks standing. Third, five (5) out of the six (6) alleged acts of infringement occurred more than three (3) years before VBC filed this lawsuit and are barred by the applicable Statute of Limitations.

Exida is a Pennsylvania limited liability company that is a leading authority on functional safety. See Exhibit “1,” Decl. of Iwan van Beurden, ¶ 2. It develops its own software to assist its customers with safety and security-related issues. Id. at ¶ 3. As such, Exida is sensitive to and respectful of the intellectual property rights of others. Id. at ¶ 4.

After investigating VBC’s allegations of Copyright Infringement, it was determined that Mr. Christman, an Exida employee, may have downloaded some “Trial Versions” of certain software programs designed to convert Visual Basic language to C# language. See Exhibit “2,” Decl. of Christman, ¶ 3 & Exhibit “1,” ¶ 5. Mr. Christman was not acting within the scope of his employment when he downloaded any software conversion programs. Exhibit “1,” ¶ 6 and Exhibit “2,” ¶ 4. He was never instructed to convert any Exida code and there was no company directive to do so. Exhibit “1,” ¶ 7 and Exhibit “2,” ¶ 5.

Mr. Christman downloaded certain conversion software because he was curious if such software was effective in converting source code. Exhibit “2,” ¶ 6. He has no recollection if the conversion software he downloaded was in any way related to VBC. Id. at ¶ 7. Mr. Christman recalls running some lines of code

1 through a program and receiving results that can only be described as unusable.
2 The conversion results had so many errors that Mr. Christman determined that
3 whatever and whosever program he downloaded was not an effective conversion
4 tool and deleted the program from his computer. Id. at ¶ 11.

5 Mr. Christman later downloaded newer “Trial Versions” to determine if the 6 conversion software had improved from his last trial run. Id. at ¶ 12. Mr.
7 Christman ran some lines of software code through the program and, again, 8 received unusable results replete with errors. Id. at ¶ 13. After determining that the 9 conversion software had not improved, he deleted the “Trial Versions” from his 10 computer. Id. at ¶ 14. Since VBC claims that its software works and is successful, 11 it is unlikely that what Mr. Christman downloaded was actually VBC’s software.
12 Pl.’s Third Amended Compl. (“Compl.”) ¶ 14.

13 Mr. Christman downloaded “Trial Versions” of some conversion software 14 from some source. Even if this was in fact some version of VBC’s software, his 15 limited “use” was entirely consistent with VBC’s “shareware model” whereby VBC
16 permits users to download “Trial Versions” of its products to test if they are 17 suitable for the user’s use. Compl. ¶ 18.

18 Mr. Christman deleted the “Trial Versions” after determining they yielded 19 unusable results and no Exida source code was ever successfully converted using 20 any conversion software. Exhibit “2,” ¶¶ 14-6. Exida does not even use C#
21 language in any of its software products. Exhibit “1,” ¶ 8. If the software had 22 worked, Mr. Christman may have recommended that Exida purchase it. Because 23 whatever he downloaded did not work at all, he did not. Exhibit “2,” ¶ 17. VBC’s
24 software sells for One Hundred and Ninety-Nine ($199.00) Dollars. See Exhibit
25 “3,” Printouts of VBC Website.

26 More than three (3) years after Mr. Christman downloaded “Trial Versions”
27 of some conversion software, Exida and Christman were surprised to learn that 28 VBC filed this lawsuit alleging Copyright Infringement. Defendants move to

1 dismiss the Third Amended Complaint on the grounds set forth in more detail
2 below.

3 Defendants also respectfully request that VBC be denied further leave to 4 amend the Third Amended Complaint. VBC has now had four (4) opportunities to 5 state a viable claim and establish its standing to bring this lawsuit. These should be 6 simple tasks. VBC has had the benefit of numerous “meet and confers” with 7 Counsel for Defendants. More importantly, VBC has had the benefit of this 8 Court’s Order of April 1, 2014, which essentially provided VBC with a roadmap of 9 how to successfully replead its First Amended Complaint. Dkt. No. 46. VBC’s
10 failure to cure the deficiencies raised by Defendants and adopted in this Court’s
11 prior Order of Dismissal confirms that it would be futile to give VBC further leave
12 to amend. Additionally, VBC cannot cure the fact that five (5) out of six (6)
13 alleged acts of infringement are barred by the Statute of Limitations.

14 II. LEGAL STANDARD

15 A motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6) tests whether the complaint 16 “contain[s] sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to ‘state a claim to relief that 17 is plausible on its face.’” See Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678, 129 S. Ct. 1937, 18 173 L. Ed. 2d 868 (2009) (quoting Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570, 19 127 S. Ct. 1955, 167 L. Ed. 2d 929 (2007)). When deciding a Rule 12(b)(6) motion, 20 the court must accept the facts pleaded in the complaint as true, and construe them
21 in the light most favorable to the plaintiff. Faulkner v. ADT Sec. Servs., Inc., 706
22 F.3d 1017, 1019 (9th Cir. 2013); Cousins v. Lockyer, 568 F.3d 1063, 1067-8 (9th 23 Cir. 2009). The court, however, is not required to accept “legal conclusions [ . . . ]
24 cast in the form of factual allegations.” W. Mining Council v. Watt, 643 F.2d 618, 25 624 (9th Cir. 1981); see Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678; Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555.

26 After accepting all non-conclusory allegations as true and drawing all 27 reasonable inferences in favor of the plaintiff, the court must determine whether the 28 complaint alleges a plausible claim to relief. See Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 679-80. “A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged [ . . . ] The plausibility standard is not akin to a ‘probability requirement,’ but it asks for more than a sheer possibility that a defendant has acted unlawfully.” Id. at 678 (citing Twombly, 550 U.S. at 556).

III. ARGUMENT

A. VBC’s Third Amended Complaint Must be Dismissed Because Copyright Registration is a Mandatory Prerequisite to Filing an Infringement Action

VBC has not pleaded that it has U.S. Copyright Registrations for the software that it claims Defendants’ downloaded. The “proofs” attached to the Third Amended Complaint list three (3) different versions of VBC software that Defendants’ allegedly copied: “VB.NET to C# converter, version 2.19,” “VB.NET to C# converter, version 2.25” and “VB.NET to C# converter, version 2.29” (“Unregistered Software”).<sup>1</sup> See Pl.’s Exhibit “E.” The only Registered Copyright that VBC sues upon is for a computer software program called “VB.NET to C# converter, version 2.0” (“Registered Software”). Compl. ¶ 15 & Pl.’s Exhibit “A.” Because Copyright Registration is a prerequisite to filing a civil lawsuit, VBC’s Third Amended Complaint must be dismissed in its entirety. Title 17 U.S.C. § 411(a).

1. Versions 2.19, 2.25 and 2.29 of VBC’s Software Are Not Registered

1 The Third Amended Complaint should be dismissed because VBC has, for 2 the fourth time, failed to plead the registration status of the allegedly downloaded
 3 Unregistered Software. This Court's Order of April 1, 2014 dismissed VBC's First 4 Amended Complaint, in part, because "VBC has only pleaded registration of 5 versions 1.0 and 2.0 of the Software, leaving the Court no indication of the 6 registration status of versions 2.19, 2.25 and 2.29." Dkt. No. 46, p. 17. VBC's 7 Third Amended Complaint only states that the "upgrades were not registered at the 8 time of the alleged infringements [ . . . ]" Compl. ¶ 36(h). VBC still has not 9 informed this Court of the current registration status of the Unregistered Software,
 10 so Defendants will do so. A search of the U.S. Copyright Office records indicates 11 they are not currently registered. See Exhibit "4," U.S. Copyright Office Search 12 Results.

13 No civil action for Copyright Infringement may be instituted until a 14 Copyright Registration from the U.S. Copyright Office has been obtained. 17
 15 U.S.C. § 411(a); Reed Elsevier, Inc. v. Muchnick, 559 U.S. 154, 157, 130 S. Ct.
 16 1237, 176 L. Ed. 2d 18 (2010) ("Section 411(a)'s registration requirement is a
 17 precondition to filing a claim [ . . . ]"); see also Ricketts v. Haah, No. 13-521, 2013 18 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 90241, at *2, 4-5 (C.D. Cal. June 26, 2013) (granting motion to 19 dismiss where plaintiff failed to plead ownership of registered copyright or pending
 20 application as required by Section 411(a)). Under Ninth Circuit precedent, Section 21 411(a)'s registration requirement is satisfied upon the Copyright Office's receipt of 22 a Copyright Application. Cosmetic Ideas, Inc. v. IAC/Interactivecorp, 606 F.3d
 23 612, 621 (9th Cir. 2010). VBC still has not satisfied the registration requirement
 24 and the Third Amended Complaint should be dismissed in its entirety.

25 2. VBC Fails to Plead, or Even Recite, that Versions 2.19, 2.25
 26 and 2.29 are "Derivative Works" of Version 2.0

27 In its Order of April 1, 2014 dismissing the First Amended Complaint, this 28 Court correctly observed,

VBC attempts to cure its standing and pleading deficiencies in its opposition papers, by arguing that Versions 2.19, 2.25, and 2.29 of the Software are ‘patches’ rather than ‘versions,’ and as such, are not drastically different than Version 2.0 [ . . . ] VBC argues that because Versions 2.19, 2.25, and 2.29 are derivative works of Version 2.0, any unlicensed use of the patches also entails infringement upon the underlying Version 2.0.

Dkt. No. 46, p. 17. This Court then proceeded to give a detailed Opinion outlining how VBC’s First Amended Complaint failed to plead facts establishing that Versions 2.19, 2.25 and 2.29 are derivative works of the registered Version 2.0. This Court’s Opinion provided VBC with straightforward, specific guidance on how VBC could successfully amend to state a claim. Yet, VBC has again failed to state a plausible claim; presumably, because it cannot.<sup>2</sup>

In order for VBC to survive this Motion to Dismiss, it must plead that Versions 2.19, 2.25 and 2.29 are “derivative works” of the registered Version 2.0. Derivative works must be substantially similar to the copyrighted work. See Litchfield v. Spielberg, 736 F.2d 1352, 1357 (9th Cir. 1984) (“[A] work is not derivative unless it has been substantially copied from the prior work.”).

VBC has not pleaded “substantial similarity” or that Versions 2.19, 2.25 and 2.29 are “derivative works” of the registered Version 2.0. VBC does not even use the term “derivative work” anywhere in its Third Amended Complaint to refer to the Unregistered Software. Instead, VBC’s Third Amended Complaint strangely asserts that “[t]hese updates represent small enhancements to the Registered Version and therefore derive their existence from Version 2.0” and that “[t]he updates mentioned above derive from Registered Version 2.0.” Compl. ¶¶ 36(i) &

<sup>2</sup> Counsel for VBC, Donald M. Gindy, Esquire, is a seasoned intellectual property litigator with forty-four (44) years of experience who claims to specialize in Copyright Law. See Exhibit “9,” Profiles of D. Gindy. There is no doubt that Mr. Gindy is familiar with the legal concepts of “derivative works” and “substantial similarity.”

36(g) (emphasis added); see also Exhibit “5,” Document Comparison of First and Third Amended Complaints.

“Derivative work” is a term of art with legal significance and is defined in the Copyright Act.<sup>3</sup> VBC’s failure to even recite the term “derivative work” is telling. Versions 2.19, 2.25 and 2.29 may “derive their existence” from Version 2.0 in that Version 2.0 is an earlier version of the same software program, but that does not mean they are substantially similar to Version 2.0 and are derivative works.<sup>4</sup>

3. VBC’s Fails to Plead Substantial Similarity Between the Code of the Unregistered and Registered Software

VBC’s Third Amended Complaint should be dismissed because VBC has failed to adequately plead substantial similarity between the code of the Unregistered and the Registered Software. The code of different versions of software can differ substantially.<sup>5</sup> The registered Version 2.0 was first created in 2006 and has, presumably, undergone significant changes in the last eight (8) years. Compl. ¶ 15 & Pl.’s Exhibit “A.” VBC has not pleaded that it has registered any of <sup>3</sup> A “derivative work” is a work based upon one or more preexisting works, such as a translation, musical arrangement, dramatization, fictionalization, motion picture version, sound recording, art reproduction, abridgment, condensation, or any other form in which a work may be recast, transformed, or adapted. A work consisting of editorial revisions, annotations, elaborations, or other modifications which, as a whole, represent an original work of authorship, is a “derivative work”. 17 U.S.C. § 101.

<sup>5</sup> “Versioning” is the creation and management of multiple releases of a product, all of which have the same general function but are improved, upgraded or customized. The term applies especially to operating systems, software and Web services. WhatIs.com, Computer Glossary, Computer Terms, <http://searchsoftwarequality.techtarget.com/definition/versioning> (last visited January 27, 2014).

1 the later versions of the Unregistered Software (Versions 2.19, 2.25 or 2.29) that
 2 VBC claims were copied by Defendants.

3 In Real Estate Innovations, Inc. v. Houston Ass'n of Realtors, Inc., the Fifth
 4 Circuit affirmed the dismissal of a claim for infringement of plaintiff's software
 5 where the software identified in the complaint was not the same as the software
 6 identified in the copyright registration. 422 Fed. Appx. 344, 348 (5th Cir. 2011)
 7 (affirming dismissal of claim on motion to dismiss). The Court reasoned that 8 plaintiff failed to explain the discrepancy between the software or produce a 9 copyright registration for the later version of a computer program it alleged 10 defendants infringed. Id. As a result, the Court affirmed dismissal of the Copyright
 11 Infringement claim for failing to comply with the registration requirements of 17
 12 U.S.C. § 411(a). See also I.M.S. Inquiry Mgmt. Sys., Ltd. v. Berkshire Info. Sys., 13 Inc., 307 F. Supp. 2d 521, 526-9 (S.D.N.Y. 2004) (granting motion to dismiss for 14 failure to satisfy Section 411(a) where copyright registration covers something 15 other than the work infringed). VBC has similarly failed to plead facts sufficient to 16 address the exact same discrepancies.

17 VBC's Third Amended Complaint does not in any way address how 18 substantial the changes to the source code have been over the many versions. VBC
 19 relies upon naming conventions in the software industry ("updates," "upgrades," 20 "patches," "enhancements") to support its contention that it was not required to 21 register the three (3) Unregistered Works.<sup>6</sup> This same "versioning" argument was 22 addressed and soundly rejected in SimplexGrinnell LP v. Integrated Sys. & Power,
 23 Inc. where the Court held that an injunction only applied to four (4) registered 24 software versions (8.04, 9.02, 10.01 and 11.01) and not unregistered, intermediate

26
 27 <sup>6</sup> In contradiction to the nomenclature used in its Complaint, VBC refers to 28 its software as separate Versions 3.07, 3.08 and 3.09 on its website and not as "updates" or "upgrades." See Exhibit "3," Printouts of VBC website.

1 versions of the software (e.g. 10.50, 10.60 and 10.61). 642 F. Supp. 2d 206, 208-9, 2 212 (S.D.N.Y. 2009).

3 In SimplexGrinnell, the Court correctly analyzed Section 411(a)'s
4 registration requirement and determined that plaintiff failed to adequately address
5 whether later-developed intermediate software versions required separate,
6 independent registration. Id. at 211-2. As VBC does here, plaintiff there argued
7 the intermediate versions did not require separate registration and directed the Court
8 to a document, which described the functional changes or enhancements between 9 versions. The Court held that the document,

10 which addresses the functionality of the [computer
11 program] through successive versions - does not speak to 12 the relevant considerations necessary to properly analyze
13 whether the software is copyrightable [ . . . ] It is settled 14 that "the literal elements of computer programs, i.e., their 15 source and object codes, are the subject of copyright
16 protection," if sufficiently original. Thus, even if adding 17 a new feature, or repairing a defect, is functionally
18 "trivial," it does not follow that the change did not
19 involve originality in the new computer code that effects
20 the functional change. Whether the changes involved
21 adding a period, moving a comma, reorganizing the 22 sequence of events, or the addition of a thousand lines of 23 code, is left unexplained [ . . . ].

24 Id. at 212 (citations omitted). The Court correctly explained that a separate 25 computer program requires separate copyright registration depending upon the 26 significance in the change in code and not functionality.

27 For the fourth time, VBC has failed to even address in any way the similarity 28 in the code of the Unregistered and Registered Software. This Court's Order of 29 April 1, 2014 directed VBC to explain "how the 'patches' in question (versions 30 2.19, 2.25 or 2.29) are substantially similar to version 2.0" rather than allege "in 31 conclusory fashion, that the patches do not substantially alter or amend Version
32 2.0." Dkt. No. 46, p. 18. VBC's Third Amended Complaint still contains factually 33 unsubstantiated, conclusory allegations of "substantial similarity" and a legally

1 irrelevant description of the functional enhancements that the Unregistered
2 Software made to the Registered Software.

3 VBC summarily alleges that “[t]here is no discrepancy between the Software 4 and its upgrades and they are substantially similar to it.” Compl. ¶ 36(h). This is 5 precisely the type of meaningless, conclusory allegations that this Court previously 6 found inadequate. Dkt. No. 46, p. 18. VBC then proceeds to give a description of 7 the functional changes that occurred between Version 2.0 and Versions 2.19, 2.25
8 and 2.29. Compl. ¶ 36(i). The functional enhancements to the Registered Software 9 have nothing to do with whether the source code is substantially similar.
10 SimplexGrinnell, 642 F. Supp. 2d at 212. This description is legally irrelevant and 11 not what the Court required VBC to replead.

12 VBC then proceeds to allege that “[t]he updates [ . . . ] all are inclusive of the 13 entire source code found in that version [2.0].” Compl. ¶ 36(i). This allegation 14 finally addresses source code, though still without facts, but it does not allege 15 substantial similarity. It states that the source code of Version 2.0 can be found in 16 the Unregistered Software. It gives no indication of how substantial the additional 17 source code added to Versions 2.19, 2.25 and 2.29 is and how similar and/or 18 different that code is to the code of Version 2.0.

19 The U.S. Copyright Office requires that “[e]ach separately published version 20 of a computer program that contains new, copyrightable authorship must be 21 registered separately, with a new application and fee.” See Exhibit “6,” U.S.
22 Copyright Office Circular 61, p. 3; Melville B. Nimmer & David Nimmer, Nimmer
23 on Copyright § 21.14(A)(2002)(same quote). VBC separately publishes and 24 offers to sell each Version of its software, as evidenced by its current offering of 25 Versions 3.08 and 3.09 on its website. See Exhibit “3,” Printouts of VBC website.
26 VBC’s Third Amended Complaint does not even address how much additional 27 source code was added to Versions 2.19, 2.25 and 2.29.
28

1 VBC has now had four (4) chances to properly plead substantial similarity.
2 VBC has had the benefit of numerous “meet and confers” with Defendants and this 3 Court’s Order of April 1, 2014, which provided VBC with a roadmap of how to 4 successfully plead substantial similarity. VBC is represented by sophisticated
5 Counsel with a claimed specialty in copyright litigation. It cannot be said that VBC
6 did not understand what it needed to plead to withstand this Motion to Dismiss. Its 7 failure to plead substantial similarity in the source code, its reliance on legally 8 irrelevant semantic distinctions (e.g. “upgrades” and “updates”) and the number of 9 opportunities VBC has been given to amend, all lead to the inescapable conclusion
10 that VBC cannot plead substantial similarity.

11 The Third Amended Complaint must be dismissed for failure to state a claim
12 because VBC has failed to satisfy the Copyright Act’s registration requirement. 17
13 U.S.C. § 411(a). To cure this defect, VBC need only register Versions 2.19, 2.25
14 and 2.29. VBC’s resistance to registering these versions is surely attributable to the 15 fact that VBC knows it will then be precluded from recovering Statutory Damages
16 or Attorneys’ Fees in a lawsuit alleging infringement of those works. See 17 U.S.C.
17 §§ 411-412. VBC will only be able to seek its Actual Damages and Defendants’ 18 profits attributable to the alleged infringements that are not taken into account in 19 computing actual damages. 17 U.S.C. § 504(b).

20 The Actual Damages VBC could potentially recover are minimal because 21 VBC’s software sells for only One Hundred and Ninety-Nine ($199.00) Dollars.
22 See Exhibit “3.” Additionally, Defendants’ have no revenues whatsoever, much
23 less profits, attributable to the alleged infringements of the Unregistered Software
24 because no Exida source code was ever successfully converted using any VBC
25 software. Exhibit “2,” ¶¶ 14-6. Exida does not even use C# language in any of its 26 software products. Exhibit “1,” ¶ 8. Given the impact on VBC’s potential 27 recovery, it is not surprising that VBC has vigorously contested a simple claims-
28

1 processing rule requiring it to register the allegedly infringed Unregistered
2 Software.

3 B. VBC Lacks Standing to Assert the Claims in the Third Amended
4 Complaint Because it Has Not Pleaded Ownership of the Allegedly 5 Infringed Unregistered Software (Versions 2.19, 2.25 and 2.29)

6 Defendants move to dismiss all counts of VBC's Third Amended Complaint
7 because it has failed to adequately plead ownership of the Unregistered Software
8 that Defendants' allegedly infringed and, therefore, lacks standing. A motion to 9 dismiss for lack of standing implicates the Court's subject matter jurisdiction, and 10 is brought under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(1).

11 In order to have standing to assert a claim for Copyright Infringement, a 12 plaintiff must either be the legal or beneficial owner of an exclusive right under a 13 copyright. 17 U.S.C. § 501; see also Righthaven LLC v. Hoehn, 716 F.3d 1166, 14 1169 (9th Cir. 2013). To plead direct copyright infringement, a plaintiff must 15 allege (1) ownership of the allegedly infringed material, and (2) the infringers'
16 violation of at least one exclusive right granted to the copyright holders under 17
17 U.S.C. § 106. A&M Records, Inc. v. Napster, Inc., 239 F. 3d 1004, 1013 (9th Cir.
18 2001) (citing 17 U.S.C. § 501(a)). VBC has not even pleaded the first prong of a 19 direct copyright infringement claim: ownership.

20 VBC has pleaded ownership of Versions 1.0 and 2.0 pursuant to an 21 Assignment dated September 1, 2010 that conveys all right, title and interest from 22 the original author, David Crook, to VBC. Compl. ¶ 15 & Pl.'s Exhibits "A," "B"
23 and "C." Neither of these versions are the versions that were allegedly copied by 24 Defendants (Versions 2.19, 2.25 and 2.29). See Pl.'s Exhibit "E."

25 VBC has amended to add the following language to its Third Amended 26 Complaint: "The copyright to the updates noted as 2.19, 2.25 and 2.29 is owned by 27 and belongs to VBC." Compl. ¶ 36(g). This Court is not required to accept "legal 28 conclusions [ . . . ] cast in the form of factual allegations," especially in light of

1 VBC's numerous attempts to plead standing. W. Mining Council, 643 F.2d at 624;
 2 see Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678; Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555.

3 VBC has failed to identify any written instrument conveying the copyright in 4 and to the Unregistered Software (Versions 2.19, 2.25 and 2.29) from the author,
 5 David Crook, to VBC. "A transfer of copyright ownership, other than by operation
 6 of law, is not valid unless an instrument of conveyance, or a note or memorandum
 7 of the transfer, is in writing and signed by the owner of the rights conveyed [ . . . ]"
 8 17 U.S.C. § 204. VBC has identified no writing signed by David Crook conveying 9 the Unregistered Software to VBC.

10 As this Court's Order of April 1, 2014 notes, the Assignment that VBC
 11 attaches to the Third Amended Complaint includes the conveyance of "all updates, 12 patches and add-ons within each version [Versions 1.0 and 2.0]." Dkt. No. 46, p.
 13 16. If Versions 2.19, 2.25 and 2.29 were, in fact, derivative works of the Registered
 14 Software (Version 2.0), one would expect VBC's Third Amended Complaint to 15 identify the Assignment as the written instrument conveying the Unregistered 16 Software to VBC. These allegations are curiously and noticeably absent from the 17 Third Amended Complaint. See Compl. ¶ 15. This is presumably because VBC
 18 has no factual basis to allege that the Unregistered Software was transferred 19 pursuant to that Assignment because the Unregistered Software actually consists of 20 independently copyrightable versions.

21 VBC has not supplied any facts to ascertain whether the later-developed 22 Unregistered Software was ever assigned to VBC. This Court has no additional 23 facts to determine standing than it had when it dismissed VBC's First Amended
 24 Complaint for failing to plead ownership. Dkt. No. 46, p. 16. This Court's Order
 25 of April 1, 2014 essentially advised VBC of how to successfully plead standing. Id.
 26 VBC's failure to do so can only indicate that it cannot. The Third Amended
 27 Complaint should be dismissed because VBC has not, for the fourth time, pleaded 28 ownership of the allegedly copied software.

 2                     Copyright Infringement Claims are Barred by the Statute of 3                     Limitations

4           Defendants move to dismiss five (5) of the six (6) acts that VBC claims
 5           constitute Copyright Infringement because they occurred more than three (3) years
 6           before VBC filed the original Complaint and are, therefore, barred by the Statute of 7           Limitations. Aware of this problem, VBC’s Third Amended Complaint telegraphs
 8           its intent to rely upon the Ninth Circuit’s “discovery rule” to argue that these five 9           (5) claims are not time-barred. This argument is unavailing.

10          No civil action for Copyright Infringement can be maintained unless it is 11          commenced within three (3) years after the claim accrued. 17 U.S.C. § 507.<sup>7</sup> A 12          Copyright Infringement claim “accrues” when “one has knowledge of a violation or 13          is chargeable with such knowledge.” Roley v. New World Pictures, Ltd., 19 F.3d 14          479, 481 (9th Cir. 1994) (holding all acts of alleged infringement occurred more 15          than three years preceding initiation of lawsuit); see also Goldberg v. Cameron, 482
 16          F. Supp. 2d 1136, 1147 (N.D. Cal. 2007) (“[a] copyright claim accrues when a 17          plaintiff knew or should have known that infringement had occurred.”) (emphasis 18          added).

19          The “discovery rule” only operates to permit recovery outside the three (3) 20          year Statute of Limitations where “the copyright owner did not discover – and 21          reasonably could not have discovered – the infringement before the 24          <sup>7</sup> VBC’s Complaint alleges four (4) Counts (Copyright Infringement, 25          Contributory Copyright Infringement, Vicarious Copyright Infringement and 26          Violation of the Digital Millennium Copyright Act), which are all subject to the 27          Copyright Act’s three (3) year Statute of Limitations. See 17 U.S.C. § 507(b); see

 2 v. Timex Corp., 384 F.3d 700, 706 (9th Cir. 2004) (emphasis added).

3 If a plaintiff claims recovery outside the limitations period based upon the 4 “discovery rule,” the plaintiff’s lack of knowledge of the infringement must be
 5 reasonable under the circumstances. Polar Bear, 384 F.3d at 706-7. A plaintiff
 6 “has a duty of diligence: it is not enough that he did not discover he had a cause of 7 action, if a reasonable man could have.” Id. at 707 (citation omitted); Goldberg,
 8 482 F. Supp. 2d at 1148-9 (holding plaintiff’s lack of knowledge of infringement
 9 was unreasonable and claim was barred by Statute of Limitations).

10 VBC filed this lawsuit on November 8, 2013. See Dkt. No. 1. Therefore, 11 any alleged acts occurring before November 8, 2010 are barred by the Statute of 12 Limitations. 17 U.S.C. § 507. VBC alleges that Defendants copied the 13 Unregistered Software on the following five (5) dates: January 3, 2009;
 14 December 1, 2009; December 4, 2009; December 10, 2009; and December 21, 15 2009. Compl. ¶¶ 36(a)-(e) & Pl.’s Exhibit “E.” These five (5) alleged 16 infringements occurred more than three (3) years before VBC filed this lawsuit and 17 are barred.

18 VBC explains in its Third Amended Complaint that it has a sophisticated
 19 tracking system whereby VBC’s own software reports any use of its software back
 20 to VBC and to Hitek Software, LLC (“Hitek”) - a third-party tracking company that 21 VBC employs for the specific purpose of monitoring unauthorized uses. Compl.
 22 ¶ 25-6. Through its tracking software, VBC is “able to identify the date and time of 23 the unlicensed use [i.e. the particulars of the infringement], the public and private 24 IP address of the computer on which the unlicensed use occurs, the false key used 25 to unlock the software, the identity of the user of that computer, the owner or 26 organization responsible for operating the computer, and other data which is 27 integral to proof of infringement.” Id. at ¶ 26 (emphasis added). This detailed 28 information of alleged infringements is transmitted to VBC and Hitek. Id. at ¶ 27.

1 Although VBC does not say so in its Third Amended Complaint, VBC has 2 routinely alleged in numerous, similar litigations that VBC and Hitek receive this
 3 detailed information about unauthorized uses almost instantaneously. See, e.g.,
 4 Exhibit “7,” Ziff Brother Complaint ¶¶ 10-1 & Exhibit “8,” Harcourt Investment
 5 Consulting Complaint ¶¶ 12-13.<sup>8</sup> There is no doubt the VBC actually knew of and
 6 had detailed information regarding the five (5) alleged acts of infringement over 7 three (3) years prior to filing suit.

8 In order to avoid its claims being time-barred, VBC attempts to explain its 9 delay in bringing this litigation by pleading that it could not have possibly 10 “discovered” these infringements until it invented an additional piece of data-
 11 mining software (“Log Data Miner”). Compl. ¶¶ 28-32. However, this does not 12 rescue the five (5) claims from defeat by the Statute of Limitations.

13 VBC admits it had in its possession the data evidencing infringement and that 14 it could have manually reviewed reports relating to potential unauthorized use of its 15 software. Id. at ¶¶ 26, 28. VBC had all of the information about Defendants’ 16 alleged infringements long before it developed its Log Data Miner because the 17 information was transmitted to VBC by its tracking software when the alleged acts
 18 occurred. David Crook’s Declaration states that the Log Data Miner “doesn’t 19 change the data at all, just queries it more effectively,” which “supplies an 20 enhancement over the older tracking system.” See Dkt. No. 32, Crook Decl.
 21 ¶ 14(b).

22 A manual review might have been more time-consuming than using the Log
 23 Data Miner, but VBC cannot claim it did not discover - and reasonably could not

 26 <sup>8</sup> In ruling on a motion to dismiss, the Court may consider documents outside 27 the pleadings without the proceeding turning into summary judgment. See Lee v.
 28 City of Los Angeles, 250 F.3d 668, 688-9 (9th Cir. 2001). In particular, the Court may consider “matters of public record” of which the court may take judicial notice under Rule 201 of the Federal Rules of Evidence.

1 have discovered - the alleged infringements because it required some good, old-
 2 fashioned manual labor. The congressionally-enacted statute prescribing the 3 limitations period for copyright claims cannot be altered by VBC's claimed
 4 inconvenience in reviewing its own records. VBC had three (3) full years to review
 5 its records and bring this lawsuit based upon the detailed information it had in its 6 possession. Its failure to do so cannot be excused.<sup>9</sup>

7 VBC had information on the alleged infringements in its records. This Court
 8 has explained,

9 [t]he general discovery rule creates a disjunctive two-10 prong test of actual or constructive notice, under which 11 the statute begins to run under either prong . . . The 12 plaintiff is deemed to have had constructive knowledge if it had enough information to warrant investigation which, if reasonably diligent, would have led to discovery of the claim.

21 <sup>9</sup> VBC's claims are also questionable because it has successfully filed 22 numerous, similar actions based upon the same tracking software it now claims is 23 obsolete or incapable of providing sufficient information to "discover" alleged 24 infringements or the identity of alleged infringers without the aid of its new Log

1 constructive knowledge of Defendants’ alleged acts of infringement, and minimal
2 investigation would have enabled VBC to timely bring its claims.

3 VBC has taken the position that two (2) key pieces of information alerted
4 VBC to Exida and Christman’s alleged acts of infringement: (1) the file name
5 “exSILentia” that was allegedly converted was identified as an Exida product, and 6 (2) several “@exida.com” email addresses, including Christman’s, and Christman’s
7 username identified Exida. See Compl. ¶¶ 29, 38 & Dkt. No. 32, ¶ 14(b). VBC’s
8 Third Amended Complaint confirms this information was gleaned from its tracking
9 software, which has been in place for at least seven (7) years, and not VBC’s later
10 developed Log Data Miner. This information was already in VBC’s possession on 11 or about the date of each alleged infringement summarized in VBC’s “proofs” and 12 three (3) years before this lawsuit was initiated. See Pl.’s Exhibit “E.”

13 VBC’s Third Amended Complaint makes clear that “Plaintiff’s tracking
14 system recorded that the conversions were dedicated to projects entitled 15 ‘exSILentiaWPF,’ ‘exSILentia2,’ ‘exSILentia3,’ ‘SILDoc,’ and 16 ‘exidaQuotationTool.’” Compl. ¶ 38 (emphasis added). Additionally, VBC’s Third
17 Amended Complaint explains its tracking software provided all the information
18 regarding Defendants’ alleged infringement, including Christman’s username
19 (“jchristman”) and several email addresses ending in “@exida.com.” Compl. ¶¶ 26,
20 29, 31, Pl.’s Exhibit “E” & Dkt. No. 32, Crook Decl. ¶ 14(b).<sup>10</sup> David Crook
21 confirms that he eventually conducted simple Google searches for “John 22 Christman,” “Exida” and “exSILentia” to discover the identity of Defendants, in 23 order to bring this lawsuit. See Dkt. No. 32, Crook Decl. ¶ 17. The “discovery
24 rule” only applies where a plaintiff could not learn of an infringement. Thus, VBC
25

26 <sup>10</sup> Although VBC does not identify this piece of information as important,
27 VBC’s tracking software also provided the computer name “Exida – 100A3799C.”
28 Compl. ¶ 36(a) (emphasis added). This information alone is sufficient to identify Exida by a simple internet search.

1 had actual notice of the alleged acts of infringement almost instantaneous with their 2 occurrence.

3 The information gathered by VBC's tracking software also provided VBC
4 with constructive knowledge of the alleged infringements. Minimal investigation
5 would have led to discovery of these claims because Mr. Crook only had to conduct
6 a handful of simple internet searches to determine that Exida and/or Christman
7 were not licensees of VBC. VBC did not need to invent the Log Data Miner to 8 bring this lawsuit. VBC cannot avail itself of the "discovery rule" because it did 9 discover, or reasonably should have discovered with minimal investigation, all 10 necessary information to put it on notice of the alleged infringements.

11 Even if VBC could not discover the identity of Defendants through simple
12 internet searches, VBC could have availed itself of commonly-used civil procedures
13 that are available to determine the identity of "unknown defendants." The Ninth
14 Circuit long ago held that when the defendants' identities are unknown at the time
15 the complaint is filed, the court may grant the plaintiff leave to take early discovery
16 to determine their identities. See, e.g., Gillespie v. Civiletti, 629 F.2d 637, 642 (9th 17 Cir. 1980) (remanding complaint to allow plaintiff to take discovery on identities of 18 unknown defendants); Malibu Media, LLC v. John Does, No. 12-1061, 2012 U.S.
19 Dist. LEXIS 99148, at *3-6, 11 (S.D. Cal. July 17, 2012) (permitting plaintiff to 20 serve subpoena on internet service provider to determine identity of subscribers'
21 through IP addresses related to the infringement).

22 VBC admits that it had the public and private IP addresses of Defendants'
23 computers as well as their email addresses. Compl. ¶¶ 26, 29, 31, Pl.'s Exhibit "E"
24 & Dkt. No. 32, Crook Decl. ¶ 14(b). VBC could have and, in fact, should have 25 filed a "John Doe" action and requested leave to file discovery to ascertain the
27
28

1 identity of Defendants before the Statute of Limitations period closed instead of 2 waiting to develop the Log Data Miner.<sup>11</sup>

3 VBC cannot state any plausible claim for Copyright Infringement based upon 4 the five (5) acts accruing more than three (3) years before it filed suit because they 5 are barred by the applicable Statute of Limitations.

6 D. VBC Should Not Be Given Further Leave to Amend Because 7 Amendment Would Be Futile Given VBC’S Repeated Failure to 8 Cure Deficiencies Through Previous Amendments

9 VBC has been given four (4) opportunities to successfully state a claim under 10 the Copyright Act and plead standing. It has failed to do so in each instance.
11 Additionally, it is impossible for VBC to cure the fact that five (5) out of six (6)
12 acts of alleged infringement are barred by the Statute of Limitations.<sup>12</sup> Granting 13 VBC further leave to amend would merely prolong the inevitable: the dismissal of 14 this lawsuit. If VBC could plead facts establishing substantial similarity or could 15 allege that the Unregistered Software is comprised of derivative works of the 16 Registered Software, it would have already pleaded those facts.

17 Instead, VBC continues to offer legally irrelevant, semantic distinctions 18 about “versions,” “enhancements” “upgrades,” “updates,” “patches” and works that 19 “derive their existence” from the Registered Software that are intentionally devoid 20 of facts concerning the similarity in the relevant codes. Defendants have already 21

22 <sup>11</sup> VBC is obviously familiar with this procedure because it employs it in its 23 Third Amended Complaint to account for any additional alleged infringers it may 24 discover. Compl. ¶ 8. Additionally, this procedure has been utilized in the 25 numerous litigations VBC/David Crook have filed since, at least, 2008. See 26 footnote 9 above.

26 <sup>12</sup> Platt Elec. Supply, Inc. v. Eoff Elec., Inc., 522 F.3d 1049, 1060 (9th Cir.
27 2008) (holding plaintiff’s claims are barred by the Statute of Limitations and could 28 not be cured through amendment); Rideau v. Greenberg, No. 11-1698, 2013 U.S.
Dist. LEXIS 97852, at *19 (C.D. Cal. Feb. 25, 2013) (holding further amendment is futile because plaintiff’s claims are time-barred).

1 spent significant time and resources discussing and briefing the inadequacies of 2 each of VBC's four (4) complaints. Defendants should not be required to expend
 3 any more of their resources educating and opposing VBC.

4 Although courts should freely give leave to amend when justice so requires,
 5 certain factors justify denying a Rule 15(a)(2) motion including undue delay, bad
 6 faith, dilatory motive, repeated failure to cure deficiencies by amendments
 7 previously allowed, undue prejudice to the opposing party by virtue of the 8 allowance of the amendment and futility of amendment. Fed. R. Civ. P. 15(a)(2);
 9 Foman v. Davis, 371 U.S. 178, 182, 83 S. Ct. 227, 9 L. Ed. 2d 222 (1962)
 10 (emphasis added). A court's "discretion to deny leave to amend is particularly 11 broad where plaintiff has previously amended the complaint." Allen v. City of 12 Beverly Hills, 911 F.2d 367, 373 (9th Cir. 1990) (citation omitted). "Repeated 13 failure to cure deficiencies by previous amendments is an appropriate basis for 14 dismissing the action with prejudice." In re: All Terrain Vehicle Litig., 771 F.
 15 Supp. 1057, 1061 (C.D. Cal. 1991) (dismissing case with prejudice because further 16 amendment is futile where plaintiff had four failed opportunities to state a claim);
 17 see also Allen, 911 F.2d at 373 (affirming dismissal of action without leave to file 18 fourth complaint where plaintiff repeatedly failed to state a claim).

19 In this circumstance, allowing further amendment of the Third Amended
 20 Complaint would be futile. See, e.g., Kauai Scuba Ctr., Inc. v. Padi Am., Inc., 524
 21 Fed. Appx. 344, 347 (9th Cir. 2013) (holding leave to amend second amended 22 complaint would be futile where plaintiff had "ample opportunity to cure the 23 defects in its pleadings after [the court] point[ed] them out."); Dutciuc v. Meritage
 24 Homes of Arizona, Inc., 462 Fed. Appx. 658, 660 (9th Cir. 2011) (affirming 25 dismissal without leave to amend where plaintiff amended complaint three times
 26 and repeatedly failed to cure deficiencies); Nicolosi Dist. Co. v. Finishmaster, Inc.,
 27 No. 99-0927, 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 505, at *12 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 13, 2000)

(denying further leave to amend as futile where plaintiff was given leave to amend twice and court specified the precise deficiencies for plaintiff to cure).

VBC has been given four (4) opportunities to state a claim under the Copyright Act and articulate VBC's standing to bring this lawsuit. This Court's Order of April 1, 2014 identified, in detail, the deficiencies in VBC's First Amended Complaint. Dkt. No. 46. This Court provided a detailed roadmap - complete with citation to relevant legal authorities - of how VBC should amend its First Amended Complaint to successfully plead copyright registration and ownership. Id. at pp. 15-8. Given this Court's clear guidance, VBC should have easily satisfied its pleading obligations. However, VBC has since filed Second and Third Amended Complaints neither of which adequately addresses the deficiencies raised by Defendants and this Court. At this stage, it is clear that giving VBC further leave to amend would be futile because it cannot plead registration and ownership of the Unregistered Software. Incidentally, VBC can very simply cure its registration and standing issues by registering the Unregistered Software and filing a lawsuit based upon those registrations.

Defendants respectfully request that VBC be denied further leave to amend the Third Amended Complaint and this case be dismissed with prejudice.

IV. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Defendants respectfully request that VBC's Third Amended Complaint be dismissed without leave to amend.

DECLARATION OF JOHN

DECLARATION OF JOHN CHRISTMAN

2:13-CV-08306-PSG-JEMX

1 I, John Christman, being duly sworn according to law, depose and 2 state as follows:

- 4 1. I am an employee of Exida.com, LLC ("Exida") with the title of 5 Lead Software Engineer.
- 6 2. I am a resident of Pennsylvania and reside in Montgomery
7 County. I own no property in California and have only traveled
8 to California once on business approximately seven (7) years
9 ago for one (1) day, which was completely unrelated to this 10 lawsuit.
- 11 3. I may have downloaded "Trial Versions" of certain software
12 programs designed to convert Visual Basic language to C# 13 language.
- 14 4. I was not acting within the scope of my employment when I 15 downloaded any software conversion programs.
- 16 5. I was never instructed by anyone at Exida to convert any Exida
17 code to C# language and there was no company directive to do 18 so.
- 19 6. I downloaded certain conversion software because I was curious 20 if such software was effective in converting source code.
- 21 7. I have no recollection if the conversion software I downloaded
22 was in any way related to VBConversions, LLC ("VBC").
25
26
27
28

- 1 8. I do not recall visiting VBC's website.
- 2 9. Prior to this lawsuit, I did not know where VBC's principal
- 3 place of business was located or that any harm would result to
- 4 VBC in that state.
- 5 10. I have no recollection of being prompted or required to assent to
- 6 or affirm any End User License Agreement ("EULA").
- 7 11. I recall running some lines of code through a conversion
- 8 program and receiving results that were unusable. The
- 9 conversion results had so many errors that I determined that this
- 10 program was not an effective conversion tool and deleted the
- 11 program from my computer.
- 12 12. I later downloaded newer "Trial Versions" to determine if the
- 13 conversion software had improved from my last trial run.
- 14 13. I ran some lines of software code through the program and,
- 15 again, received unusable results replete with errors.
- 16 14. After determining that the conversion software had not
- 17 improved, I deleted the "Trial Versions" from my computer.
- 18 15. I currently have no conversion software on any of my
- 19 computers. I deleted the "Trial Versions" after determining they
- 20 yielded unusable results.
- 21
- 22
- 23
- 24
- 25
- 26
- 27
- 28

1 16. No Exida source code was ever converted from Visual Basic
2 language to C# language using any conversion software.

4 17. If the software had worked, I may have recommended that Exida
5 purchase it. Because it did not work, I did not.

6 I certify, under penalty of perjury, that the foregoing facts stated in this
7 Declaration are true and correct and based upon my personal knowledge. I am
8 competent to testify upon the matters stated herein. I understand that false
9 statements made herein are made subject to the penalties of Title 28 U.S.C. §1746.

EXHIBIT “5”

~~FIRST~~THIRD AMENDED COMPLAINT

COMES ~~NOW~~now, Plaintiff, VBConversions LLC, a California limited liability company, which alleges that ~~Defendants~~Defendant Exida.com LLC, a Pennsylvania limited liability company also known as Exida and Exida LLC, John Christman, an individual, are liable to it for copyright infringement, contributory copyright infringement, vicarious copyright infringement and violation of the Digital Millennium Copyright ~~Act~~Ac, §1201-(a) in connection with ~~Plaintiff's~~Plaintiffs copyrighted software entitled VB.Net to C# Converter. (“C#” is ~~pronounce~~pronounced “C Sharp”.) This action is based upon ~~a~~ federal question and seeks damages and injunctive relief upon Defendants’ unauthorized access, copying and usage of Plaintiff’s copyrighted software.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

1. This action arises under the Copyright Act of the United States 17 U.S.C. §101 and §501, et seq. and the Digital Millennium Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. §1201_(a). Jurisdiction is further founded upon ~~the~~ Defendants<sup>1</sup>’ acceptance of a licensing agreement in connection with use of VB.Net to C# Converter, whereby the parties agree to subject themselves to the personal jurisdiction of the courts of the State of California.

2. Venue is proper in this District pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1391(b) & §1400(a). Venue is also proper as the result the Defendants’ acceptance of the above-mentioned licensing ~~agreement's~~agreements’ forum-selection clause which designates the County of Los Angeles, State of California, as the location for hearing any dispute arising in relation to use of the program. (See Atlantic Marine Construction Company v. United States District Court ~~Court~~court for the Western District of Texas, 571 U.S. ~~--~~(Dec. 3, 2013))

GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

Background

9. Visual Basic (VB) is a computer programming language developed and sold by Microsoft Corporation since as early as 1991. Historically, it has been among the most popular programming languages for use in business programming and has long ~~had~~has one of the largest user bases of any programming language. There is, therefore, a vast amount of software that has been developed over the years in VB. Many of these VB programs are of significant complexity and size.

10. In or around 2001, Microsoft Corporation introduced an “evolved” version of Visual Basic called Visual Basic-.Net (VBN) oriented towards modern, Internet programming tasks.

11. Since 2000, however, the language C#, is also developed by Microsoft Corporation (but adopted as an international standard) has taken the place of VB for much business programming, particularly that oriented toward the Internet. C# is intended to be a simple, modern, general-purpose, programming language. The language is intended for use in developing software components suitable for deployment in many different environments. For instance, while VB and VBN are largely limited to the Windows operating system, C# compilers exist for most major computer operating systems, including Mac OS, Linux, Windows, Solaris, etc. C# is suitable for writing applications for both hosted and embedded systems.

The Copyrighted Software

12. Because of the large body of legacy software existing in VB and VBN, companies seeking to modernize their software often find that it is most practical to undertake a process of converting their existing VBNBN code to C#. Paying a programmer to make the conversion line-by-line by hand can be extremely costly.

13. In particular, Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that a skilled computer programmer having substantial familiarity with both VB/VBN and C# and working purely by hand, could, at best, convert 100 lines per hour from VB/VBN to C#.

14. In light of this challenge, plaintiff has developed the Program, VB.Net to C# Converter, to automate the conversion process. The program is designed to enable converting from VB to C# at a significantly lower cost and much more rapidly.

15. Version 2.0, of VB.Net to C# Converter (“the ~~Copyrighted~~Copyright Software.”) was registered with the Register of Copyrights in 2006, and was assigned registration TX 0006425720. A true and correct copy of the registration certificate is attached hereto as Exhibit “A,” and is incorporated by reference. On September 1, 2010, the original author of the Copyrighted Software conveyed and granted to all of his right, title and interest in and accrued causes of action to VBConversions LLC. A copy of the assignment is attached hereto and incorporated by reference as Exhibit “~~E~~B.” Moreover, the Assignment was registered with the Registrar of Copyrights on March 14, 2011 and given the registration number of-TX0007317237. A copy of the Public Catalog of said registration is attached hereto as Exhibit “~~F~~C.”

The Licensing of the Copyrighted Software

16. VBC licenses the Copyrighted Software online at the Internet web site ~~vbconversions~~vbcon version.com.

17. When the Copyrighted Software is downloaded and run, the user must affirm an End User Licensing Agreement (“EULA”) before the program can be used. A true and correct copy of the EULA is attached hereto as Exhibit “~~B~~D,” and is incorporated by reference.

18. In spite of the complexity of the system, the Copyrighted Software is licensed under extremely reasonable terms. VBC employs the so-called shareware model, whereby an interested user is permitted to download a time and line limited version of the Copyrighted Software in order to test it to see if it is suitable for his or her needs.

19. As initially downloaded, the Copyrighted Software may be used for up to fifteen (15) days. When this time limit is reached, the Copyrighted Software is disabled and ceases to function. Further, before it is unlocked, the Copyrighted Software ~~will only~~ is disabled and ceases to function to convert VB/VBN projects consisting of up to two-thousand (2,000) lines of code. It will not process larger projects. (Shareware programs offered in such time or function limited forms are often referred to as “trialware” or “demoware.”) (~~See 37~~see 37, C.F.R. §-201.26)

20. If the user is satisfied with the Copyrighted Software and wishes to continue to use it beyond the time and scope limitations applied to free use, the EULA requires the user to apply for a full-use license by paying the standard market fee. At that point, the user is provided an “unlock code” (or key) that removes the restrictions in the Copyrighted Software.

Cracking and Warez Sites and Unlicensed Use

21. Unfortunately, a broad array of so-called “cracking sites” have appeared on the internet that are capable of generating and providing users with unauthorized unlock ~~codes~~code for the Copyrighted Software and many other programs offered in the trialware/demoware model. These sites supply the decryption of registration keys to developers’ software and enable fraudulent registration codes to be used in order to gain unlicensed unlimited access to the subject program.

22. A similar number of so-called “warez sites” have sprung ~~up~~ offering already-cracked copies of copyrighted programs for download and use.

23. Despite its best efforts, VBC has not been able to stem the tide of unscrupulous users who have used these means to gain unauthorized, unlicensed and unlimited access to the ~~Copyrighted~~Copyright Software.

24. Such users have used ~~the~~ Copyrighted Software without license (and without any payment to VBC) to quickly convert vast ~~amounts~~amount of VB/VBN code to ~~the~~be more modern and desirable C#. Such users thereby obtain significant financial benefit through their illicit, unlicensed infringing use.

Collection of Information Concerning Infringement.

25. In self-defense, VBC has adopted a tracking system whereby the Copyrighted Software reports its use to VBC’s servers and to servers maintained by a third-party registration-tracking company, Hitek Software LLC of Goleta, CA (“Hitek”).

26. VBC is, thereby, able to identify the date and time of the unlicensed use, the public and private IP address of the computer on which the unlicensed use occurs, the false key used to unlock the software, the identity of the user of that computer, the owner or organization responsible for operating the computer, and other data which ~~is~~ integral to proof of infringement.

27. The collection of this usage data by the Copyrighted ~~Software~~software and its transmission to VBC and Hitek is ~~acknowledged~~acknowledge and affirmed by the user as part of the EULA when the Copyrighted Software is first used.

28. Notwithstanding the tracking system, there are almost 400,000 entries in the VBC logs, which is far more than can be reviewed manually. Despite reviewing logs on a daily basis, reliance must be placed on automated scans of certain reliable fields, such as Internet Service Provider (ISP) Names, User Names, and Unlock Codes, among others.

29. The primary piece of information which identified Exida as an infringer was an email address detected on the users' computers. In this case, the ISP Name was Verizon, the user names were "jchristman" and "administrator", and the codes were all issued to legitimate customers. However, this information alone did not<sup>6</sup> alert VBC that Exida bore liability to it.

30. The acts of infringement are spread among between four different Internet Protocol addresses and three different computers. It was only after VBC created a novel process for data mining that the logs were developed and the data was combined that the infringement was discovered. The novel process which uncovered Exida was used on or about December 12, 2012. A manual review of the logs and normal automated scans would not have revealed Exida's presence.

31. Multiple email addresses were detected on the computers, including for example, rebelzoo75@~~gmaileom~~gmail.com. The new data mining process combined all of the email addresses into one field in the VBC logs. The new process parses out the multiple email addresses per line and groups them by the ~~Second~~second Level Domain ~~Name~~name of the email address, i.e., that portion after the @, such as exida.com or ~~gmaileom~~gmail.com. It was only after the new process was enacted<sup>7</sup> that the Exida case was discovered. [The~~-.com-~~, .net or .org are customarily referred to as Top Level Domain Names.]

32. Accordingly, those illegal conversions that occurred prior to November 15, 2010, could not reasonably have been discovered had the new combining process not been developed.

SPECIFIC ~~ALLEGATIONS~~ ALLEGATION OF DEFENDANTS' INFRINGEMENT

33. Plaintiff has collected information demonstrating that Defendants have used the Copyrighted Software with a fraudulent unlock code to generate more than Five Hundred Forty One Thousand One Hundred Fifty (541,150) lines of C# code.

34. The Program proves its invaluable nature to programmers in the following manner. Even if a programmer could sustain a 100-line per hour manual translation rate over a long period, plaintiff alleges it would take more than 5,411 programmer hours to accomplish such a conversion. The average worker at 40 hours per week would accumulate about 2,000 hours per year (with a two week vacation). Thus, it would require more than two and one-half years to do the same task, starting from scratch, that plaintiff's program can accomplish in a ~~matter~~manner of hours.

35. The specific ~~Information~~information related to the unlicensed infringing use is set forth below.

The Group of Infringements.

36. The actual dates and times of infringement are, as follows:

a.) On January 3, 2009, at 11:39 a.m., the user converted VB into 98,742 lines of C# by reason of his illegal use of plaintiff's program: at Version 2.0. At 12:10 p.m., another 98,742 lines were converted. The computer name - ~~EXIDA-100A~~100 A3799C. The fraudulent key that unlocked the software is P77151006CAM2R6591Y6EC067. The owner is Exida. The user is Administrator.

b.) On December 1, 2009, ~~at~~ 2:31 p.m., the user illegally converted Visual Basic lines into 112,470 lines of C#. The computer name - JMC7. The fraudulent key that unlocked the software is P3B0EBOE-S4167-217217B5-KA976-G208F. ~~The user is jchristman.~~

c.) On December 4, 2009, at 2:12 p.m., the user illegally converted Visual Basic lines into 39,022 lines of C# on computer JMC7. The fraudulent key used to unlock the software is identical to that mentioned above. The same ~~user~~ is jchristman.

d.) On December 10, 2009, at 9:15 and at 9:40 a.m., the user illegally converted Visual Basic lines into ~~81,930~~81,910 lines of C# on computer JMC7. The fraudulent key is identical to that of December 1 and December 4. The user is once again jchristman.

e.) On December 21, 2009, once again the data reflects identical information as above for that computer known as JMC7.

f.) On November 15, 2010, ~~at~~ 10:58 ~~am~~a.m., the user converted 106,921 lines into C#. Version ~~2.29~~2.0 of the software ~~was~~ installed on a computer owned ~~by~~ ~~defendant~~by defendant, Exida. The computer name is JMC-M4400. The user is named jchristman. A new and different fraudulent key was used by the user to unlock the software, to wit, P0S65-~~80U92~~-80U920DJ239-2500H-5Q828.

g.) Certain exhibits to the Second Amended Complaint refer to updates (or patches) of the Registered Version, Version 2.0 (“the Software”). (See Exhibit E). These updates represent small enhancements to the Registered Version and therefore derive their existence from Version 2.0. The copyright to the updates noted as 2.19, 2.25 and 2.29 is owned by and belongs to VBC.

h.) These upgrades were not registered at the time of the alleged infringements and VBC does not rely exclusively upon them to establish copyright infringement. Rather, the updates to the Software noted as 2.19, 2.25 and 2.29 do not function separately from the Software itself. The upgrades enhance the functionality of the Software included in the registered version of the Software. There is no discrepancy between the Software and its upgrades and they are substantially similar to it. In short, there is no way to have used these enhancements without also using the underlying registered Software, Version 2.0. Because the use of the Software by Defendants was unauthorized as herein alleged, a violation of plaintiff's copyright occurred.

i.) Visual Studio is Microsoft's VB.Net and C# programming tool and they released versions of it in 2003, 2005, 2008, 2010, 2012, and 2013. VBC's Version 2.0 was a major release which included support for Visual Studio 2005. The updates mentioned above derive from Registered Version 2.0 and all are inclusive of the entire source code found in that version.

Update 2.19 provides increased performance, corrects minor bugs in version 2.0 and adds support for Visual Studio 2008.

Update 2.25 provides minor corrections to Version 2.0 as well as support for Visual Studio 2010;

Update 2.29 also provides minor bug fixes and performance enhancements.

i.) The updates identified above are mentioned only to plead with particularity the time and manner in which the infringing activity occurred. They describe where the defendants were found when discovered by plaintiff. Specifically, the user of computer Exida-100A3799C was using the update at 2.19; the user of computer JMC7 was using the update at 2.25 when identified by plaintiff; and, the user of JMC-M4400 was found at 2.29.

j.) It is Registered Version 2.0 which plaintiff asserts has been violated by defendants in that its Exclusive Rights of Reproduction and Preparation of a Derivative Work have been infringed. Upon information and belief, plaintiff thereon alleges that defendants copied and adapted Version 2.0 to the needs of Exida.com and, in so doing, violated the rights and remedies of VBC found at 17 U.S.C. §106(1&2) and §501 et seq. It is the unauthorized use of Version 2.0, which was registered with the Register of Copyright preceding the alleged infringements (Parag. 15, supra), which is the basis of plaintiff's claims. Plaintiff references the identified updates for the sole purpose of proving that a violation of Version 2.0 occurred. Unauthorized use of the updates themselves is not a component of plaintiff's infringement action.

37. In each and every instance mentioned above, the user illegally reproduced and adapted the ~~software~~registered version of the program, Version 2.0, for the benefit of his employer. The keys were not issued by VBC to the defendants. They are unauthorized codes whose sole purpose is to decrypt developer's software and unlock programs to unlimited use without the knowledge or consent of plaintiff.

38. Moreover, detected by plaintiff was the purpose of the wrongful conversion. Plaintiff's tracking system recorded that the conversions were dedicated to ~~VB~~VB projects entitled "exSILentiaWPF," "exSILentia2," "exSILentia3," "SILDoc," and "exidaQuotationTool." Silentia is one of Exida's major services provided to clients. Exhibit "DE."

39. Plaintiff believes jchristman is actually defendant John- Christman. This defendant entered three elements of identity as required by VBC. That is, Mr. Christman himself entered the Registration Name - "user;" Registration Organization - "user;" and, Registration email - "user@user.com." It appears that Mr. Christman was attempting to disguise his usage of the software and knew his actions were unlawful.

40. Therefore, as mentioned, the total of all lines illegally converted amounts to 541,150. To place this number of C# lines in perspective, it is said that the number of C# lines is roughly equivalent to 2% if the same were in text. The equivalence approximates 10,800 pages of text. Or, if the average book consists of 200 pages, it would require more than 50 books piled atop one another to equal the ~~lumber~~number of lines converted. Copies of Proof of Illegal Usage are attached hereto and incorporated by reference as Exhibit "CE."

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF: Violation of 17 U.S.C. 106(1) & ~~501~~501, et seq., Copyright Infringement.

41. Plaintiff incorporates by reference paragraphs 1 through 40 as if the same were set forth fully herein.

42. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that the computer involved in this illegal conversion was under the care, custody and control of Defendants at all times. The user directed a false key at Plaintiff's servers in California, bypassed the legitimate code issued to purchasers, gained unauthorized access to the copyrighted material, reproduced Plaintiff's program, adapted and created derivative works beneficial to their employer.

43. Assuming that the average programmer earns approximately $100.00 per hour doing conversion work, the saved costs and expenses avoided by Defendants as the result of unauthorized access, copying and usage amount ~~to~~ approximately ~~$541,000.00~~ $541,000.00.

44. Plaintiff alleges that the full amount of Actual Damages, including profit attributable to the infringement, ~~is~~it unknown to ~~Plaintiff~~plaintiff at this time, but ~~aeordingly~~according to proof at time of trial. Plaintiff does allege that Statutory Damages are at least $150,000.00. The acts of Defendants, and each of them, involve the use of a fraudulent code in order to bypass Plaintiff's genuine codes issued to legitimate purchasers. The infringers knew or had reason to know they were violating plaintiff's Exclusive Rights under the Copyright Act (At 17 ~~US~~U.S.C. §106_(1&2)). Accordingly, then, the acts complained of were willful and deliberate and qualify for the maximum allowed by law. (At 17 U.S.C. §504(c)(2)).

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF: Vicarious Copyright Infringement.

45. Plaintiff incorporates by reference paragraphs 1 through 44, inclusive, as if the same were set forth fully herein.

46. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that at all times relevant to the action complained of herein, Exida, ~~had~~has the right and ability to oversee, govern, control and direct its employees actions, including, but not limited to, causing the cessation of adverse conduct in which its employee was engaged. Yet, despite this ability, Defendants failed and continued to fail to enforce rules of conduct upon its employees, which led to the substantial number of lines wrongfully converted. In particular, the Defendants failed to take decisive action to prevent continuing unauthorized access, copying and ~~adaptation~~adaption of Plaintiff's copyrighted software.

47. Plaintiff further alleges that as a proximate result of Defendants' conduct Defendants have profited in an amount and in a manner that would not have taken place, but for the purloining of Plaintiff's copyrighted software by its employees. Accordingly, Defendants have gained a direct financial benefit to which they are not entitled.

48. Under the circumstances ~~outlined~~outlines above, Defendants are liable to Plaintiff for Statutory Damages as ~~a~~-willful vicarious copyright infringer in the amount of ~~$150,000.00.~~150,000.00. Defendants are also liable for Actual Damages in an amount unknown at this time, but according to proof at time of trial.

THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF: Contributory Copyright Infringement.

49. Plaintiff incorporates by reference paragraphs 1 through 48, inclusive, as if the same were set forth fully herein.-

50. By virtue of its position as employer, Defendant Exida knew or had reason to know that its employee, Christman, ~~had~~has gained unauthorized access to Plaintiff's copyrighted programs and was using same for the benefit of Exida by copying and adapting the accessed, copyrighted material and which he knew violated Plaintiff's Exclusive Rights of copyright. The direct infringer's knowledge is inferred from their use of a fraudulent code to unlock the software to unlimited use.

51. By engaging in such conduct, defendants, and each of them, exceeded the scope of the very limited license granted to them for use in the Trial version of the software and were transformed into copyright infringers.

52. Furthermore, Plaintiff is informed and believes that Defendants aided the actions of its ~~employee~~employees and materially contributed therein by supplying the data, and equipment necessary to encourage, urge and persuade, and induce the usage of Plaintiff's intellectual property, in particular, by supplying computers, a router and a virtual private network through which each and every instance of infringement alleged herein has traveled and been directed to Plaintiff's software.

53. Defendants, and each of them, are liable to Plaintiff by reason of the employer/employee relationship for Actual Damages of a sum unknown at this time, but for all profits attributable to the infringements, according to proof at the time of trial. In the alternative,

Defendants are liable for Statutory Damages of ~~$150,000.00~~, $150,000.00, as and for the willful and intentional infringement and unauthorized access, copying and usage of Plaintiff's copyrighted programs.

FOURTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF: Violation of the Digital Millennium

Copyright Act (17 U.S.C. §1201 (a).)

54. Plaintiff repeats and re-alleges paragraphs 1 through 53, as if the same were set forth fully herein.

55. At all times mentioned herein, Plaintiff has in force a 25 digit alphanumeric code designed to control access to his copyrighted software. It is only when a legitimate purchaser affirms the terms and conditions of the End User Licensing Agreement (EULA) and pays the standard market fee that access to the licensed product is permitted for an unlimited time. When adherence is satisfied Plaintiff will issue to the licensee a non-exclusive, non-transferable license and provide legitimate code enabling access to the copyrighted programs.

56. The code is intended as a technological measure for the purpose of protecting its proprietary program. To gain access requires knowledge of the 25 digits issued by Plaintiff. It is intended to exclude those who seek to circumvent the code and gain unauthorized access.

57. Defendants circumvented this technological access-control measure to obtain unlicensed access to the Copyrighted Software.

58. The true number of acts of circumvention is unknown at this time, but Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that at least 10 occasions above occurred.

59. As a consequence of Defendants' unlawful and unauthorized circumvention of Plaintiff's measures, Plaintiff has sustained damages as previously set forth herein.

60. The use of a circumvention device to gain access is an intentional and knowledgeable act by the Defendants. It is therefore willful and subjects Defendants' liable for the maximum allowed for ~~Statutory~~statutory Damages, per act of circumvention, or $2,500.00 on 10 occasions for a total of $25,000.00.- Alternatively, Plaintiff is entitled to Actual Damages for profits attributable to the acts of circumvention per 17 U.S.C.-§1203(c)(2), according to proof at time of trial. Said damages are in addition to that awarded for copyright infringement.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff prays that the Court issue the following:

A. Defendant be enjoined during the pendency of this action and permanently thereafter from appropriating, using or otherwise benefiting from Plaintiff's copyrighted application software identified above without the express written approval of Plaintiff or his delegate;

B. Defendants be ordered to identify, preserve, set aside and retain any and all source code used by them in the infringement alleged above pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 34, which includes, but is not limited to:

(i) All ~~electronically~~electronic stored ~~information~~informed which contains any portion of Plaintiff's copyrighted program;

(ii) All writings as defined in Federal Rule of Evidence ~~1061~~1001, which refer to or mention in any manner Plaintiff's program, except to those items based on privilege.

C. Pay ~~Plaintiff~~plaintiff all damages sustained by him as ~~the~~a result of their unlawful acts, with prejudgment interest, as well as account for and pay for all gains and profits they have enjoyed at Plaintiff's expense. In particular, ~~Plaintiff~~plaintiff demands compensation of at least $150,000.00 as and for Statutory Damages ~~under~~Under The Copyright Act or Actual Damages for profits attributable to the infringement, both direct and indirect, according to law.

D. Plaintiff demands at least $25,000.00 for violation of the applicable section of the Digital Millennium Copyright Act, §1201(a), et seq., over and above those damages recited under the Copyright Act of 1976;

E. Trial by jury.

F. All costs of litigation, including costs of suit, reasonable attorney fees and interest at legal rates.

G. Such other and further relief as the Court deems just under the circumstances.

EXHIBIT “6”

Copyright Registration for Computer Programs

A "computer program" is a set of statements or instructions to be used directly or indirectly in a computer in order to bring about a certain result.

Copyright protection extends to all the copyrightable expression embodied in the computer program. Copyright protection is not available for ideas, program logic, algorithms, systems, methods, concepts, or layouts.

Registering a Copyright with the U.S. Copyright Office

An application for copyright registration contains three essential elements: a completed application form, a nonrefundable filing fee, and a nonreturnable deposit—that is, a copy or copies of the work being registered and "deposited" with the Copyright Office.

You may register basic claims<sup>1</sup> for literary works; visual arts works; performing arts works, including motion pictures; sound recordings; and single serials online by using the electronic Copyright Office (eCO) at www.copyright.gov, or you may register on a paper application form.

The Application

Completing the Online Application for a Computer Program

NOTE: These points do not cover all the required information on the application. Be sure to refer to the online instructions and the eCO tutorial before completing the application.

Author Created · In the "Author Created" space, describe the copyrightable authorship in the computer program for which registration is sought. Acceptable statements include "computer program," "text of user's manual and computer program," etc. Do not refer to design, physical form, hardware, or algorithm. Do not describe the program's features or functions.

Year of Completion · Give the year of completion and the exact date of first publication, if any, for the particular version of the computer program for which registration is sought.

Limitation of Claim · Complete this part of the application if the computer program contains a substantial amount of previously published, registered, or public domain material such as subroutines or modules, or if the work was developed using an underlying computer program or authoring tool. "Material excluded" may state "previous version." Typical examples of descriptions of "New material included" are "computer program" and "revised version." Do not refer to debugging, error corrections, new functions of the revised program, or other elements that cannot be registered.

To register online, go to the Copyright Office website at www.copyright.gov and click on electronic Copyright Office.

NOTE: Hard-copy deposits are required for most published works to fulfill the mandatory deposit requirements. You can still register online and save money even if you will submit a hard-copy deposit. After paying the filing fee online, you may choose either to upload digital copies or to mail physical copies. Instructions for both options are provided. A shipping slip is created to mail together with your hard copies.

Completing a Paper Application Form for a Computer Program

You can also register your copyright using a paper form. Instructions accompany the paper forms. To access all forms, go to the Copyright Office website and click on Forms. Choose the form representing the type most appropriate to the predominant authorship. Because computer programs are literary works, registration as a "Literary Work" (Form TX) is usually appropriate.

However, if pictorial or graphic authorship predominates, registration as a "Visual arts work" (Form VA) may be made. Similarly, if motion picture authorship or audiovisual material predominate, registration as a "Motion picture/audiovisual work" (Form PA) may be made.

On your personal computer, complete the form, print it out, and mail it with a check or money order and your deposit. Blank forms can also be printed out and completed by hand, or they may be requested by postal mail or by calling the Forms and Publications Hotline at (202) 707-9100 (limit of two copies of each form by mail). Remember that online registration through eCO can be used for these types of applications.

The Fee

Copyright Office fees are not refundable, and they are subject to change. For current fees, check the Copyright Office website at www.copyright.gov, write the Copyright Office, or call (202) 707-3000 or 1-877-475-0778 (toll free).

The Deposit

Computer Programs without Trade Secrets

For published or unpublished computer programs, send one copy of identifying portions of the program (first 25 and last 25 pages of source code) reproduced in a form visually perceptible without the aid of a machine or device, either on paper or in microform, together with the page or equivalent unit containing the copyright notice, if any. Online registration is ideal for computer programs not embodied in a CD-ROM. The source code may be uploaded electronically, preferably in PDF format.

For a program less than 50 pages in length, send a visually perceptible copy of the entire source code. For a revised version of a program that has been previously published or previously registered or that is in the public domain, if the revisions occur throughout the entire program, send the page containing the copyright notice, if any, and the first 25 and last 25 pages of source code. If the revisions are not contained in the first 25 and last 25 pages, send any 50 pages representative of the revised material in the new program, together with the page or equivalent unit containing the copyright notice, if any, for the revised version.

In any case where the program is so structured that it has no identifiable beginning or end, the applicant should make a determination as to which pages may reasonably represent the first 25 and last 25 pages.

If an applicant is unable or unwilling to deposit source code, the applicant must state in writing that the work as deposited in object code contains copyrightable authorship. The Office will then register the work under its rule of doubt since it has not determined the existence of copyrightable authorship.

If a published user's manual or other printed documentation accompanies the computer program, deposit one copy of the user's manual along with one copy of the identifying material for the program.

NOTE: Such manuals must generally be mailed rather than uploaded electronically to the Copyright Office.

For programs written in JavaScript® and other scripted languages, the script is considered the equivalent of source code. Thus, the same number of pages of script would be required as is required for source code. Reproductions of on-screen text, buttons, and commands are not an appropriate substitute for this source code deposit. Where a scripted program contains trade secrets, the deposit of script pages must meet the requirements below.

NOTE: When a computer program is embodied in a CD-ROM, ordinarily the entire CD-ROM package must be mailed to the Copyright Office, including a complete copy of any accompanying operating software and instructional manual. If registration is sought for the computer program, the deposit should also include a printout of the first 25 and last 25 pages of source code for the program.

Computer Programs Containing Trade Secrets

Where a computer program contains trade secret material, include a cover letter stating that the claim contains trade secrets, along with the page containing the copyright notice, if any. Include a source code deposit as described below. The source code may be uploaded electronically with the exceptions noted above.

Entirely new computer programs

- First 25 and last 25 pages of source code with portions containing trade secrets blocked out, or
- First 10 and last 10 pages of source code alone, with no blocked out portions, or
- First 25 and last 25 pages of object code plus any 10 or more consecutive pages of source code, with no blocked-out portions, or
- For programs 50 pages or less in length, entire source code with trade secret portions blocked out

Revised computer programs

If the revisions are present in the first 25 and last 25 pages, any one of the four options above, as appropriate, or if the revisions are not present in the first 25 and the last 25 pages:

- 20 pages of source code containing the revisions with no blocked out portions, or
- any 50 pages of source code containing the revisions with some portions blocked out

NOTE: Whenever portions of code are blocked out, the following requirements must be met:

- 1 the blocked out portions must be proportionately less than the material remaining; and
- 2 the visible portion must represent an appreciable amount of original computer code.

Points to Remember

Each separately published version of a computer program that contains new, copyrightable authorship must be registered separately, with a new application and fee. Registration of the first version may extend to the entire work if it contains no previously published or registered portions and if the claimant is the same for both.

Registration of any subsequent version covers only the new or revised material added to that version. The version of the work that is deposited should be the same version described on the application; thus, the title and dates on the application should correspond with those on the deposit copy.

NOTE: If the version to be registered is no longer available, it may be possible to register it using a later version under a grant of special relief. In this case, submit a written request for special relief to the Copyright Office, Attention: Registration Program. Explain why the required version is not available and indicate what percentage of the authorship from the version to be registered remains in the version you are depositing. Your request will be evaluated upon receipt.

If the deposit material for the computer program has a copyright notice containing multiple year dates, the Copyright Office will question whether the particular program is a revised or derivative version if the "Limitation of Claim" area of the application has not been completed. If the program is not a derivative work and if the multiple year dates in the notice refer to internal revisions or the history of development of the program, please put that information in a cover letter to help speed processing. If registering online, give this explanation as a "Note to Copyright Office" in the space provided.

If the deposit material for the computer program does not give a printed title and/or version indicator, please add the title and any indicia that can be used in identifying the particular program.

How to Register a Computer Program and Its Screen Displays

A single registration may be made for a computer program and its screen displays. When answering the "Type of work being registered" in eCO, choose the type most appropriate to the predominant authorship. Because computer programs are literary works, registration as a "Literary Work" is usually appropriate. However, if pictorial or graphic authorship predominates, registration as a "Work of the Visual Arts" may be made. Similarly, if motion picture authorship or audiovisual material predominates, registration as a “Motion picture/ audiovisual work” may be made.

The registration will extend to any copyrightable screens generated by the program, regardless of whether identifying material for the screens is deposited.

Option 1: Answer “computer program” to the “Author Created” question. In this case, deposit the source code as described above. Depositing identifying material for screens is optional.

Option 2: Answer “computer program, including text of screen displays,” or “computer program including audiovisual material” or “computer program including artwork on screen displays” in the “Other” portion of the “Author Created” question. In this case, you must deposit identifying material for the screen displays in addition to the required source code. Identifying material for the screen displays should consist of images or printouts clearly revealing the screens. If using online registration, images of the screens may be uploaded electronically to the electronic Copyright Office. For works that are predominantly audiovisual, such as video games, ½-inch VHS videotapes, CD-ROMs, or DVDs, an upload of the audiovisual material to eCO (provided the file is not too large to upload) is acceptable. Note, too, that if the screens are reproduced in an accompanying manual, the manual will suffice as identifying material.

The identifying material will be examined for copyrightability. When the screens are essentially not copyrightable (e.g., de minimis menu screens, blank forms, or the like), the application should not refer to screens. The description of authorship on the application should not refer to elements such as “menu screens,” “structure, sequence and organization,” “layout,” “format,” or the like.

NOTE: Registration of html or other formatting code for a website does not automatically cover any visible or audible copyrightable elements that are generated by the code. To register those portions of an online work, the entire copyrightable content must be deposited. It is possible to register the computer program together with the online work, but the deposit requirements for both the program and the online work must be fulfilled. See Circular 66, Copyright Registration for Online Works, for important information on the required deposit and how to complete the application when registering online works.

Screen Displays

Copyright protection for computer screen displays, including video games, has been an issue in the courts for some time.

Courts have differed in their opinions regarding whether screen displays may be registered separately.

The Copyright Office has consistently believed that a single registration is sufficient to protect the copyright in a computer program and related screen displays, including video games, without a separate registration for the screen displays or a specific reference to them on the application for the computer program. An application may give a general description in the “Author Created” space, such as “computer program.” This description will cover any copyrightable authorship contained in the computer program and screen displays, regardless of whether identifying material for the screens is deposited.

A specific claim in the screen displays may be asserted on the application. In such a case, identifying materials for the screens must be deposited.

Effective Date of Registration

When the Copyright Office issues a registration certificate, it assigns as the effective date of registration the date it received all required elements—an application, a nonrefundable filing fee, and a nonreturnable deposit—in acceptable form, regardless of how long it took to process the application and mail the certificate. You do not have to receive your certificate before you publish or produce your work, nor do you need permission from the Copyright Office to place a copyright notice on your work. However, the Copyright Office must have acted on your application before you can file a suit for copyright infringement, and certain remedies, such as statutory damages and attorney’s fees, are available only for acts of infringement that occurred after the effective date of registration. If a published work was infringed before the effective date of registration, those remedies may also be available if the effective date of registration is no later than 90 days after the first publication of the work.

If you apply for copyright registration using a paper application, you will not receive an acknowledgment that your application has been received (the Office receives more than 600,000 applications annually), but you can expect

- a letter or a telephone call from a Copyright Office staff member if further information is needed or
- a certificate of registration indicating that the work has been registered, or if the application cannot be accepted, a letter explaining why it has been rejected.

Requests to have certificates available for pickup in the Copyright Office or to have certificates sent by a mail service cannot be honored. If you want to know the date that the Copyright Office receives your paper application or hard-copy deposit, send it by registered or certified mail and request a return receipt.

Defendants.

CASE NO. CV08-1508

COMPLAINT: COPYRIGHT INFRINGEMENT;
CONTRIBUTORY AND VICARIOUS COPYRIGHT
INFRINGEMENT

DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL

1 Plaintiff, David L. Crook doing business as VB Conversions, a sole proprietorship,
2 hereby brings the within action against Ziff Brothers Investments, LLC., a Delaware
3 limited liability company and Andy Estema, an individual, for their systematic and 4 continuous acts of copyright infringement and vicarious and contributory copyright
5 infringement. This action is based upon a federal question.

7 A. SUMMARY OF THE ACTION.

8 1. This action seeks damages and injunctive relief based upon defendant's 9 unauthorized copying and usage of plaintiff's copyrighted software entitled "VB.NET to 10 C# Converter." (C# is pronounced C Sharp)

12 B. JURISDICTION.

13 2. This action arises under the Copyright Act of the United States, 17
14 U.S.C. §101 and 501, et seq. This Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter of this 15 action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1338 (a) and (b).

17 3. Venue is proper in this Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(2).
18

19 4. Further, Plaintiff alleges venue is proper as the result of a Forum
20 Selection Clause in a license agreement affirmed by defendant designating the County of 21 Los Angeles, State of California, as the suitable location for hearing in the event of a

24 C. PARTIES.

25 5. David L. Crook is the sole owner and operator of his company entitled VB
26
27
28

1 Conversions (hereinafter "VBC"). He is a resident of Overland Park, Kansas. The 2 Principal headquarters of his business is located here.

4 6. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that Ziff Brothers
5 Investments LLC, is a Delaware limited liability company, with headquarters in New York
6 City. It is believed that Ziff engages in money management and investments as its primary 7 business objective.

10 7. Plaintiff is further informed and believes and thereon alleges that 11 defendant, Andy Estama, is and was at all times relevant to the allegations found in this 12 Complaint to be an employee operating within the course and scope of his employment by 13 Ziff Bros. Investments.

15 D.. GENERAL ALLEGATIONS
16

17 8. Plaintiff has registered his programs with the Register of Copyright and was 18 given the registration number of TX 6-285-849 for Version 1.0 of the above entitled
19 program; TX 6-425-720 for Version 2.0. A copy of his registrations are attached hereto
20 and incorporated by reference as Exhibit "A."

22 9. VBC sells its copyrighted program online at www.vbconversions.net.
23 Mr. Crook subscribes to the Shareware philosophy of offering his program for a limited
24 time to potential purchasers. In this instance, he offers it for 15 days. A party is permitted
25 to try out the program and see if it is suitable for their needs. If so, they may apply for a
28

1 license by paying the required fee and affirming a license agreement. However, prior to
2 being permitted to use the Trial version, a prospective purchaser must affirm an End User
3 Licensing Agreement first. Upon doing so, they will receive a registration code which 4 permits unlimited access to the program. The trial version of the program automatically
5 disables after 15 days. A copy of the End User Licensing Agreement (EULA) is attached
6 hereto as Exhibit "B."

10 10. Unfortunately, despite the best efforts of VBC, it has not been able to 11 stem the tide of unscrupulous people who have gained unauthorized access to his program
12 and have used the software to quickly convert to this latest incarnation of computer
13 language. These intruders have used so-called "cracking sites" which exist in great 14 abundance on the Internet. These sites supply the decryption of registration keys to 15 developer's software and enable fraudulent registration codes (or keys) to be used in order
16 to gain access to the programs. In self defense, VB has adopted a tracking system which 17 is able to identify the date and time of the intruder, the external and internal IP of the 18 offending computer, the identity of the user of that computer and other data which is 19 integral to proof of infringement.
22

23
24 11. The tracking system VBC adopted was created by Hitek Software LLC
25
26
27
28

1 of Goleta, CA. VBC and Hitek have contracted to have the latter monitor its program
2 and detect unauthorized access. Hitek receives the data at its servers almost simultaneously
3 as it is received at VBC's servers.

5 12. In business programming, Visual Basic (VB) has one of the largest user
6 bases and is probably the most popular programming language. But many developers look
7 to more recent computer languages in order to enhance what they do and to eliminate flaws
8 found in earlier programs such as VB. Newer languages used by programmers include C,
9 C+ and C++. C# has evolved from these earlier attempts at improving VB.

12 13. C# is intended to be a simple, modern, general-purpose, Programming 13 language. The language is intended for use in developing software components suitable for 14 deployment in many different environments. For instance, C# compilers exist for just about 15 every platform imaginable, including Mac, Linux, Windows, Solaris, etc.

18 14. C# is suitable for writing applications for both hosted and embedded systems, 19 ranging from the very large that use sophisticated operating systems, down to the very 20 small having dedicated functions.

23 15. Plaintiff is unaware of the names and true capacities of Defendants, whether 24 individual, corporate and/or partnership entities, named herein as DOES 1 through 10, 25 inclusive, and therefore sues them by their fictitious names. Plaintiff will seek leave to

1 amend this complaint when their true names and capacities are ascertained. Plaintiff is
2 informed and believes and thereon alleges that all of the defendants, known and unknown,
3 are in some manner responsible for the wrongs alleged herein and that at all times
4 mentioned herein were the agent and servant of the other Defendants and acting within the 5 course and scope of said agency and employment.

8 16. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that at all times relevant 9 hereto, Defendants and DOES 1-10, inclusive, knew or reasonably should have known of 10 the acts and behavior alleged herein and the damages caused thereby, and by their inaction
11 ratified and encouraged such acts and behavior. Plaintiff further alleges that said defendants
12 have a non-delegable duty to prevent or cause such acts and behavior described herein, 13 which duty defendants failed and/or refused to perform.

17 FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF: Violation of 17 U.S.C. §106(1) & 501, et seq.,
18 Copyright Infringement against all defendants.

20 17. Plaintiff incorporates by reference paragraphs 1 through 16 as if the 21 same were set forth fully herein.

23 18. In this instance, it was disclosed that a computer owned and operated and/or 24 under the care, custody and control of defendant Ziff Brothers had used a fraudulent
25 registration "key" (or code) to unlock plaintiff's program. Hitek detected that this intrusion

1 occurred on Tuesday, April 3, 2007, initially at 3:02 p.m. The tracking system was alerted
2 that on April 3, 2007, the defendants converted 39,610 lines of Visual Basic to C# without 3 plaintiff's knowledge and consent. Documents attesting to the findings of Usage are 4 attached hereto and incorporated by reference as Exhibit "C."

7 19. Subsequently, on June 1, 2007, at 11:21 a.m., the tracking system detected that 8 through the use of a fraudulent 25 digit alphanumeric code, not issued by plaintiff,
9 defendant again engaged in the unauthorized usage of plaintiff's program. On June 1, 6,
10 & 25; July 17&18; and, on August 17, 2007, defendant converted 243,579 additional lines
11 became C#. Copies of the Proof of Usage is attached hereto and incorporated by reference
12 as Exhibit "D."

15 20. Further, on September 27, 2007, October 5, 2007, and October 12, 2007, it 16 was disclosed that as a result of defendants' actions an additional 128, 403 lines were 17 converted to C#. The total of unauthorized copying of plaintiff's copyrighted program
18 amounts to 411,592 lines which have been converted to C#. Copy of the Proof attesting
19 to this infringement is attached hereto as Exhibit "E."

22 21. Although no additional lines of code were found to have been converted by 23 Ziff, it was learned that on December 12, 2007, usage of the program was detected at 3:32
24 p.m., by use of computer entitled NYITD6194D1. Attached hereto as Exhibit "F."

1           22. Reference to the American Registry of Internet Numbers (ARIN) indicates
3 that the computers identified by their external internet protocol numbers are within the 4 range of computers under the custody and control of Ziff Brothers Investments. The 5 external internet protocols are: 208.195.65.104. A copy of the ARIN Report is attached
7 hereto as Exhibit "G."

8           23. The computer which was used throughout the conversions process is
10 called: NYITD6194D1. The user is named "aestama." The domain or workgroup is 11 entitled: ZBINY. The internal internet protocol numbers for the above computer 12 are:192.168.84.101.

14           24. The user of the above device gained unauthorized entry by use of a 15 fraudulent registration code. The code is: 1A9WD-WZGRR-NZVYT-FUIMW-13RXU.
16
17 This code was detected by the monitoring system. It is not a code issued by plaintiff.

18           25. As a proximate result of the unauthorized access gained by defendants,
19
20 the plaintiff sustained a loss of sales, a diminution of value of his program, a potential loss 21 of license value. Meanwhile, the defendants have profited unjustly in the sum of 22 $411,592.00, by not having to employ a programmer to do the work completed by the
24 unauthorized use of plaintiff's program. Plaintiff has been harmed by the fraudulent use of 25
26 a registration code
27

1 which apparently enabled the infringer to decipher plaintiff's proprietary key leading to the 2 exceedingly large number of lines to be converted.

4 26. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that without the benefit
5 of plaintiff's copyright program, a programmer would require, at the very least, 4,115 hours
6 to convert the number of lines which defendants' obtained by way of their fraudulent
7 actions. Plaintiff is further informed that the average cost of a programmer is 8 approximately $100.00 per hour and that a programmer could potentially convert, at the 9 very best, only about 100 lines per hour in the absence of plaintiff's program. Accordingly, 10 defendants' have been unjustly enriched and profited by misappropriating the code in the 11 amount of $411,592.00, in that they did not have to employ such persons to do this work 12 and pay them the customary amount required to do an equivalent job.

17 27. Plaintiff further contends that defendants, and each of them, have profited and 18 will continue to profit in an amount unknown, but according to proof pursuant to 17 U.S.C.
19 §504(a)(1) & (b).

21 28. Plaintiff contends that the use of a fraudulent code to gain unauthorized 22 access to the program was an intentional, knowledgeable and deliberate act designed to 23 unlock plaintiff's registration code. It was therefore a willful act subjecting defendants' and 24 each of them to the maximum amount of Statutory Damages permitted by law or 25 $150,000.00.
28

1                   SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF: *Vicarious Copyright Infringement

2                   against defendant Ziff Brothers Investments .

4           29. Plaintiff incorporates by reference paragraphs 1 through 28, inclusive, as if
5 the same were set forth fully herein.

7           30. Plaintiff is informed and believes that at all times relevant to the actions
8 complained of herein, the defendant A.Estema was conducting himself as an employee of 9 defendant Ziff.

11           31. Plaintiff believes that defendant Andy Estema was a computer specialist
12 and/or programmer assigned to maintaining and improving his employer's computer
13 systems and, in so doing, sought out programs that would improve the Visual Basic system
14 upon which Ziff's programs were based. Plaintiff further alleges that among the programs
15 which Estema attempted to use was that of plaintiff, i.e., VB.Net to C# Converter.

18           32. Plaintiff further alleges upon information and belief, as Estema's employer
19 defendant Ziff had the right and ability at all times to oversee, govern, control and direct 20 its employees actions, including, but not limited to, halting any adverse conduct in which 21 its employee engaged. Yet, despite this ability, defendant Ziff failed and continues to fail 22 to enforce rules of conduct upon its employee which has led to the massive number of 23 converted lines of which plaintiff complains herein.

25
26           33. Plaintiff further alleges that as a proximate result of defendant Estema's
27

1 conduct, defendant Ziff has profited as set forth above in an amount and in a manner that 2 would not have taken place but for the purloining of plaintiff's copyrighted software by its 3 employee. Accordingly, defendants' have gained a financial benefit to which they are not 4 entitled.

7 34. Under the circumstances outlined above, defendants' are liable to plaintiff as 8 a vicarious copyright infringer in the amount of $411,592.00.

9 Defendants' are also liable for Actual Damages over and above those stated for its use of 10 the program and the program's contribution to profits in an amount unknown at this time,
11 but according to proof at time of trial. In the alternative, defendants' are liable to plaintiff
12 for Statutory Damages in the amount of $150,000.00, as and for willful infringement.

15 THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF: Contributory Copyright Infringement against 16 defendants Ziff.

18 35. Plaintiff incorporates by reference paragraphs 1 through 34, inclusive, as if 19 the same were set forth fully herein.

21 36. By virtue of their respective positions as employers, defendants' knew or 22 had reason to know that their employee had gained unauthorized access to plaintiff's
23 copyrighted program and was using same for the benefit of Ziff.

25 37. Furthermore, plaintiff is informed and believes that defendants' aided and 26 abetted the actions of its employee and materially contributed therein by supplying the data

1 and equipment necessary to encourage, urge and persuade, and induce the usage of 2 plaintiff's intellectual property on many programs which assisted in connection with, among
3 others, its alleged failure to make a timely bond payment; managing risk on interest rate
4 swap agreements; and, hiring investment bank Morgan Stanley Dean Witter & Co., to 5 explore joint ventures, alliances, merger or sales as well as assisting with programs focused
6 on Primebroker.

10 38. Defendants, and each of them, are jointly and severally liable to plaintiff in 11 Actual Damages of the sum of $411,592.00, and all profits attributable to the infringement,
12 according to proof at time of trial. In the alternative, defendants are jointly and severally
13 liable for Statutory Damages of $150,000.00, as and for the willful and intentional
14 infringement and unauthorized access, copying and usage of plaintiff's copyrighted
17

18 WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays that the Court issue the following:

19 A. Defendant be enjoined during the pendency of this action and permanently
20 thereafter from appropriating, using or otherwise benefitting from plaintiff's 21 copyrighted application software identified above;

23 B. Defendants be ordered to pay plaintiff all damages sustained by him as the 24 result of their unlawful acts, with prejudgment interest, as well as account for and 25 pay for all gains and profits they have enjoyed at plaintiff's expense. In 26
28

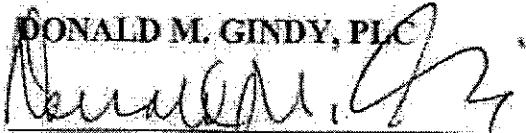

1 particular, plaintiff demands compensation of at least $150,000.00, or Actual
2 Damages of at least $411,592.00, plus profits attributable to the infringement,
3 both direct and indirect, according to law.

5 C. Such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper under the 6 circumstances;

8 D. Trial by jury;

10 E. All costs of litigation, including, but not limited to costs of suit, reasonable 11 attorney fees and interest at legal rates.

Except as expressly provided in this EULA, you may not otherwise make copies of the Software Product or the printed materials accompanying the Software Product.

6. EXPORT RESTRICTIONS. You acknowledge that the Software Product is of U.S. origin. You agree to comply with all applicable international and national laws that apply to the Software

Product, including the U.S. Export Administration Regulations, as well as end-user, end-use and destination restrictions issued by U.S. and other governments

7. APPLICABLE LAW.

If you acquired this Software Product in the United States, this EULA is governed by the laws of the State of California. If this Software Product was acquired outside the United States, then local law may apply.

8. LIMITED WARRANTY

LIMITED WARRANTY FOR SOFTWARE PRODUCTS ACQUIRED IN THE US AND CANADA. VBConversions warrants that the SOFTWARE PRODUCT will perform substantially in accordance with the accompanying materials for a period of ninety (90) days from the date of receipt.

If an implied warranty or condition is created by your state/jurisdiction and federal or state/provincial law prohibits disclaimer of it, you also have an implied warranty or condition, BUT ONLY AS TO DEFECTS DISCOVERED DURING THE PERIOD OF THIS LIMITED WARRANTY (NINETY DAYS). AS TO ANY DEFECTS DISCOVERED AFTER THE NINETY (90) DAY PERIOD, THERE IS NO WARRANTY OR CONDITION OF ANY KIND. Some states/jurisdictions do not allow limitations on how long an implied warranty or condition lasts, so the above limitation may not apply to you.

Any supplements or updates to the SOFTWARE PRODUCT, including without limitation, any (if any) service packs or hot fixes provided to you after the expiration of the ninety (90) day Limited Warranty period are not covered by any warranty or condition, express, implied or statutory.

LIMITATION ON REMEDIES; NO CONSEQUENTIAL OR OTHER DAMAGES. Your exclusive remedy for any breach of this Limited Warranty is as set forth below. Except for any refund elected by VBConversions, YOU ARE NOT ENTITLED TO ANY DAMAGES, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES, if the Software Product does not meet VBConversions' Limited Warranty, and, to the maximum extent allowed by applicable law, even if any remedy fails of its essential purpose. The terms of Section 10 below ("Exclusion of Incidental, Consequential and Certain Other Damages") are also incorporated into this Limited Warranty. Some states/jurisdictions do not allow the exclusion or limitation of incidental or consequential damages, so the above limitation or exclusion may not apply to you. This Limited Warranty gives you specific legal rights. You may have others which vary from state/jurisdiction to state/jurisdiction.

YOUR EXCLUSIVE REMEDY. VBConversions' and its suppliers' entire liability and your exclusive remedy shall be, at VBConversions' option from time to time exercised subject to applicable law, (a) return of the price paid (if any) for the Software Product, or (b) repair or replacement of the Software Product, that does not meet this Limited Warranty and that is returned to VBConversions with a copy of your receipt. You will receive the remedy elected by VBConversions without charge, except that you are responsible for any expenses you may incur (e.g. cost of shipping the Software Product to VBConversions). This Limited Warranty is void if failure of the Software Product has resulted from accident, abuse, misapplication, abnormal use or a virus. Any replacement Software Product will be warranted for the remainder of the original warranty period or thirty (30) days, whichever is longer. Outside the United States or Canada, neither these remedies nor any product support services offered by VBConversions are available without proof of purchase from an authorized international source.

9. DISCLAIMER OF WARRANTIES. THE LIMITED WARRANTY THAT APPEARS ABOVE IS THE ONLY EXPRESS WARRANTY MADE TO YOU AND IS PROVIDED IN LIEU OF ANY OTHER EXPRESS WARRANTIES (IF ANY) CREATED BY ANY DOCUMENTATION OR PACKAGING. EXCEPT FOR THE LIMITED WARRANTY AND TO THE MAXIMUM EXTENT PERMITTED BY APPLICABLE LAW, VBCONVERSIONS AND ITS SUPPLIERS PROVIDE THE SOFTWARE AND SUPPORT SERVICES (IF ANY) AS IS AND WITH ALL FAULTS, AND HEREBY DISCLAIM ALL OTHER WARRANTIES AND CONDITIONS, EITHER EXPRESS, IMPLIED OR STATUTORY, INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, ANY (IF ANY) IMPLIED WARRANTIES, DUTIES OR CONDITIONS OF MERCHANTABILITY, OF FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE, OF ACCURACY OR COMPLETENESS OR RESPONSES, OF RESULTS, OF WORKMANLIKE EFFORT, OF LACK OF VIRUSES AND OF LACK OF NEGLIGENCE, ALL WITH REGARD TO THE SOFTWARE, AND THE PROVISION OF OR FAILURE TO PROVIDE SUPPORT SERVICES. ALSO, THERE IS NO WARRANTY OR CONDITION OF TITLE, QUIET ENJOYMENT, QUIET POSSESSION, AND CORRESPONDENCE TO DESCRIPTION OR NON-INFRINGEMENT WITH REGARD TO THE SOFTWARE.

10. EXCLUSION OF INCIDENTAL, CONSEQUENTIAL AND CERTAIN OTHER DAMAGES. TO THE MAXIMUM EXTENT PERMITTED BY APPLICABLE LAW, IN NO EVENT SHALL VBCONVERSIONS OR ITS SUPPLIERS BE LIABLE FOR ANY SPECIAL, INCIDENTAL, INDIRECT, OR CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES WHATSOEVER (INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, DAMAGES FOR LOSS OF PROFITS OR CONFIDENTIAL OR OTHER INFORMATION, FOR BUSINESS INTERRUPTION, FOR PERSONAL INJURY, FOR LOSS OF PRIVACY, FOR FAILURE TO MEET ANY DUTY INCLUDING OF GOOD FAITH OR OF REASONABLE CARE, FOR NEGLIGENCE, AND FOR ANY OTHER PECUNIARY OR OTHER LOSS WHATSOEVER) ARISING OUT OF OR IN ANY WAY RELATED TO THE USE OF OR INABILITY TO USE THE SOFTWARE PRODUCT, THE PROVISION OF OR FAILURE TO PROVIDE SUPPORT SERVICES, OR OTHERWISE UNDER OR IN CONNECTION WITH ANY PROVISION OF THIS EULA, EVEN IN THE EVENT OF THE FAULT, TORT (INCLUDING NEGLIGENCE), STRICT LIABILITY, BREACH OF CONTRACT OR BREACH OF WARRANTY OF VBCONVERSIONS OR ANY SUPPLIER, AND EVEN IF VBCONVERSIONS OR ANY SUPPLIER HAS BEEN ADVISED OF THE POSSIBILITY OF SUCH DAMAGES.

11. LIMITATION OF LIABILITY AND REMEDIES. NOTWITHSTANDING ANY DAMAGES THAT YOU MIGHT INCUR FOR ANY REASON WHATSOEVER (INCLUDING, WITHOUT LIMITATION, ALL DAMAGES REFERENCED ABOVE AND ALL DIRECT OR GENERAL DAMAGES), THE ENTIRE LIABILITY OF VBCONVERSIONS AND ANY OF ITS SUPPLIERS UNDER ANY PROVISION OF THIS EULA AND YOUR EXCLUSIVE REMEDY FOR ALL OF THE FOREGOING (EXCEPT FOR ANY REMEDY OF REPAIR OR REPLACEMENT ELECTED BY VBCONVERSIONS WITH RESPECT TO ANY BREACH OF THE LIMITED WARRANTY) SHALL BE LIMITED TO THE GREATER OF THE AMOUNT ACTUALLY PAID BY YOU FOR THE SOFTWARE OR U.S. $5.00. THE FOREGOING LIMITATIONS, EXCLUSIONS AND DISCLAIMERS (INCLUDING SECTIONS 6, 7, AND 8 ABOVE) SHALL APPLY TO THE MAXIMUM EXTENT PERMITTED BY APPLICABLE LAW, EVEN IF ANY REMEDY FAILS ITS ESSENTIAL PURPOSE.

1 Plaintiff, David A. Crook doing business as VB Conversions, a sole
2 proprietorship, hereby brings the within action against Harcourt Investment
3 Consulting AG, a Swiss corporation, (hereinafter "Harcourt"), an individual 4 only known as Koechlin and other unknown individuals, for their systematic
5 and continuous acts of copyright infringement, vicarious and contributory
6 copyright infringement and violation of the Digital Millennium Copyright Act,
8 Section 1201. This action is based upon a federal question.

10 A. SUMMARY OF THE ACTION.

12 1. This action seeks damages and injunctive relief based upon
13 defendant's unauthorized copying and usage of plaintiff's copyrighted
14 software entitled "VB.NET to C# Converter." (C# is pronounced C Sharp)

16 B. JURISDICTION.

17 2. This action arises under the Copyright Act of the United States,
18 U.S.C. § 101 and 501, et seq. This Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter
19 of this action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1338 (a)

21 3. Venue is proper in this Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b) (2) &
22 (3).

24 4. Further, Plaintiff alleges venue is proper as the result of a Forum
25 Selection Clause in a license agreement affirmed by defendant designating the 26 County of Los Angeles, State of California, as the appropriate location for 27 hearing in the event of a dispute.

C. PARTIES.

5. David L. Crook is the sole owner and operator of his company entitled VB Conversions (hereinafter "VBC"). He is a resident of Kansas City, MO. The principal headquarters of his business is located there.

6. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that Harcourt is a joint stock corporation under the laws of Switzerland, whose principal headquarters are located at Stampfenbachstrasse 48, Zurich, Switzerland.

7. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that Harcourt maintains offices in various cities around the world including: Madrid, Geneva, Stockholm, Hong Kong and New York.

8. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that Harcourt is engaged in the business of hedge fund investments as a "fund of funds." In particular, Harcourt attempts to appeal to institutional investors.

9. Plaintiff is further informed and believes and thereon alleges that Harcourt employs an individual by the name of Koechlin as a computer specialist, who at all relevant times mentioned herein, was working within the course and scope of employment. Plaintiff believes Koechlin is responsible, in part, for the claims of infringement set forth herein.

D. GENERAL ALLEGATIONS.

10. Plaintiff has registered his programs with the Register of

Case 2:09-cv-05899-AHM-E Document 1 Filed 08/12/09 Page 4 of 40 Page ID #:872
Copyright and was given the registration number of TX 6-285-849 for Version

1.0 of the above entitled program; TX 6-425-720 for Version 2.0. A copy of his registrations are attached hereto and incorporated by reference as Exhibit
"A."

11. VBC sells its copyrighted program online at www.vbconversions.net. Mr. Crook subscribes to the Shareware philosophy of offering his program for a limited time to potential purchasers. In this instance, he offers it for 15 days. A party is permitted to try out the program and see if it is suitable for their needs. If so, they may apply for a license by paying the required fee and affirming a license agreement. However, prior to being permitted to use the Trial version, a prospective purchaser must first affirm an End User Licensing Agreement. The trial version of the program automatically disables after 15 days. A copy of the End User Licensing Agreement (EULA) is attached hereto as Exhibit "B."

12. Unfortunately, despite the best efforts of VBC, it has not been able to stem the tide of unscrupulous people who have gained unauthorized access to his program and have used the software to quickly convert to this latest incarnation of computer language. These intruders have used so-called "cracking sites" which exist in great abundance on the Internet. These sites supply the decryption of registration keys to developer's software and enable fraudulent registration codes (or keys) to be used in order to gain access to the

Case 2:09-cv-05899-AHM-E Document 1 Filed 08/12/09 Page 5 of 40 Page ID #:873

1 programs. In self defense, VBC has adopted a tracking system which is able to 2 identify the date and time of the intruder, the external and internal IP of the 3 offending computer, the identity of the user of that computer and other data
4 which is integral to proof of infringement.

6 13. The tracking system VBC adopted was created by Hitek Software
7 LLC of Goleta, CA. VBC and Hitek have contracted to have the latter monitor
8 its program and detect unauthorized access. Hitek receives the data at its 9 servers almost simultaneously as it is received at VBC's servers.

11 14. In business programming, Visual Basic (VB) has one of the largest 12 user bases and is probably the most popular programming language. But 13 many developers look to more recent computer languages in order to enhance 14 what they do and to eliminate flaws found in earlier programs such as VB.
15 Newer languages used by programmers include C, C+and C++. C# has 16 evolved from these earlier attempts at improving VB.

18 15. C# is intended to be a simple, modern, general-purpose,
19 programming language. The language is intended for use in developing 20 software components suitable for deployment in many different
21 environments. For instance, C# compilers exist for just about every platform
22 imaginable, including Mac, Linux, Windows, Solaris, etc.
23

24 16. C# is suitable for writing applications for both hosted and 25
26
27
28

1 embedded systems, ranging from the very large that use sophisticated
2 operating systems, down to the very small having dedicated functions.

4 17. Plaintiff is informed and believes that at all times mentioned
5 herein defendant has engaged in the offering of services within the County of 6 Los Angeles, State of California. Plaintiff alleges that Harcourt has formed a
7 strategic alliance with Nuveen Investments for the purpose of the latter
8 distributing Harcourt investment products in the United States. Plaintiff 9 believes that said products have been and now are being sold in the County of 10 Los Angeles.

13 18. Plaintiff is unaware of the names and true capacities of 14 Defendants, whether individual, corporate and/or partnership entities, named 15 herein as DOES 1 through 10, inclusive, and therefore sues them by their 16 fictitious names. Plaintiff will seek leave to amend this complaint when their 17 true names and capacities are ascertained. Plaintiff is informed and believes 18 and thereon alleges that all of the defendants, known and unknown, are in 19 some manner responsible for the wrongs alleged herein and that at all times
20 mentioned herein were the agent and servant of the other Defendants and 21 acting within the course and scope of said agency and employment. In the 22 alternative, defendants and each of them were acting as joint venturers or 23 partner-in-concert for the purpose of copying plaintiff's work.
25
26
27

28 19. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that at all

Case 2:09-cv-05899-AHM-E Document 1 Filed 08/12/09 Page 7 of 40 Page ID #:875

1 times relevant hereto, Defendants and DOES 1-10, inclusive, knew or 2 reasonably should have known of the acts and behavior alleged herein and the 3 damages caused thereby, and by their inaction ratified and encouraged such 4 acts and behavior. Plaintiff further alleges that said defendants have a 5 non-delegable duty to prevent or cause such acts and behavior described 6 herein, which duty defendants failed and/or refused to perform.

9 FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF: Violation of 17 U.S.C. §106(1) &
10 501, et. seq., Copyright Infringement against all defendants.

11 20. Plaintiff incorporates by reference paragraphs 1 through 19, as if 12 the same were set forth fully herein.

14 21. It was disclosed that a computer owned and operated and/or 15 under the care, custody and control of defendant Harcourt had used a 16 fraudulent registration "key" (or code) to unlock plaintiff's program, Version 17 2..15. The first act of unauthorized access to the software was determined to 18 have occurred on February 5, 2008, at 2:49 p.m. (Western European time) It 19 appears that the country of origin of the infringing act emanated from the 20 United Kingdom.
22

23 22. The identity of the computer which was the device used to gain
24 access is called "PC-117XP." The public Internet Protocol address was detected 25 as: 217.8.202.90. The report from RIPE indicates that this is a computer 26
28

1 owned and/or operated by defendant Harcourt. The internal IP address was 2 noted to be; 172.21.13.48. The identity of the User of this machine is identified
3 as "simitovic."

5 23. Thereafter, on May 8, 2008, commencing at 4:05 p.m. (Western 6 European standard time) and for the next two hours and fifty-two (2 hrs., 52
7 min.)minutes, a device with the same public IP as above, but with a different
8 private IP, 172.21.13.58, apparently on the same network, copied plaintiff's
9 software without the knowledge or consent of the plaintiff.
10

12 24. In this subsequent act of infringing, two different computers are 13 noted to have been used to accomplish the wrongful acts. Those two 14 computers are entitled: "NOTE-016XP" and "PC-099XP." The identity of the 15 user is noted to be "koechlin." The Version is 2.17 of plaintiff's program.
16

17 25. In gaining unauthorized access to plaintiff's software by use of a 18 fraudulent code or key, the defendants were able to convert Visual Basic lines
19 of code to 996,876 lines of C#. This constitutes an enormous number of lines 20 converted.

22 26. "Reseaux IP Europeens" or RIPE is one of five Regional Internet
23 Registries (RIRs) providing Internet resource allocations, registration service
24 and co-ordination activities that support operation of the Internet globally.
25 RIPE is responsible for the assignment of internet protocol addresses within 26 its geographic region. The region encompasses Europe and the Middle East.
27

1 (The RIR assigned to North and South America is called American Registry of 2 Internet Numbers or ARIN.)

4 27. RIPE confirms that the public internet protocol numbers of 5 217.8.202.90 indicate computers owned and/or operated by defendant
6 Harcourt. A copy of its findings are attached hereto as Exhibit " C ."

8 28. As a proximate result of the unauthorized access obtained by 9 defendants, and each of them, the plaintiff sustained a loss of sales, a 10 diminution of value of his program, a potential loss of license
11 value. Meanwhile, the defendants have profited unjustly in the sum of 12 $996,876.00, at the very least, by avoiding the cost and expense of hiring a 13 competent computer programmer able and willing to do the work completed
14 by the unauthorized use of plaintiff's program.

17 29. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that without 18 the benefit of plaintiff's copyrighted program, a programmer would require, at 19 the very least 9,968 hours to convert the number of lines which defendants'
20 obtained by way of their fraudulent actions. Plaintiff is further informed that 21 the average cost of a programmer is approximately $100.00 per hour. It is 22 estimated that a programmer with enough knowledge and experience could 23 only convert about 100 hours per hour without plaintiff's program.
24 Accordingly, defendants' have been unjustly enriched and profited by 25 misappropriating the code in the amount of $996,876.00, in that they did not 26
28

1 have to employ such persons to do this work and pay them the customary
2 amount required to do an equivalent job.

4 30. Plaintiff further contends that defendants, and each of them, have 5 profited and will continue to profit in an amount unknown, but according to 6 proof pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 504(a)(1) & (b).

8 31. Plaintiff further contends that the use of fraudulent codes to gain 9 unauthorized access to the program was an intentional, knowledgeable and 10 deliberate act designed to unlock plaintiff's registration code. It was therefore 11 a willful violation subjecting defendants' to the maximum statutory award of 12 $300,000.00, for violation of each of plaintiff's copyrighted works.

14 SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF: Vicarious Copyright Infringement
15 against defendant Harcourt.

17 32. Plaintiff incorporates by reference paragraphs 1 through 31, as if 18 the same were set forth fully herein.

19 33. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that all time 20 mentioned herein defendants and each of them had the right and ability to 21 oversee, govern, control and direct its employees actions, including, but not 22 limited to halting any adverse or unlawful action taken by said employees.
23 Yet, despite the ability set forth above, defendants have failed and refused to 24 enforce rules of conduct regarding the unauthorized taking of intellectual 25 property by their employees.
26
27
28

1       34. Plaintiff is informed and believes that defendants and others
2 whose identity is unknown to plaintiff were all employed by defendants at all
3 relevant times as computer specialists. As a result, they were under the control 4 and supervision of the other entity defendants and at all times were 5 performing their duties in the course and scope of employment.

7       35. As a result of the activities of the said employee defendants,
8 Harcourt has profited as set forth above in an amount and in a manner that 9 would not have taken place but for the purloining of plaintiff's copyrighted
10 software. As a consequence, Harcourt has gained a financial benefit to which 11 it was not entitled.

13       36. Under the circumstances outlined above, defendants and each 14 of them are jointly and severally liable to plaintiff as vicarious copyright
15 infringers in at least the amount of $996,876.00. Defendants are also liable 16 to plaintiff for Actual Damages over and above those stated for its use of the 17 program in the production of Net Profit attributable to the infringement..
18 Plaintiff, in the alternative, seeks maximum Statutory Damages for each of his 19 copyrighted works or $300,000.00.
20

21       THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF: Contributory Copyright
22       Infringement against Harcourt.

24       37. Plaintiff incorporates by reference paragraphs 1 through 36, as if 25 the same were set forth fully herein.
26
28

38. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that

Harcourt aided and abetted the actions of its employees and materially contributed thereto by supplying the data and equipment necessary to encourage, urge and persuade and induce the usage of plaintiff's intellectual property for the financial benefit of the entity defendants.

39. As a proximate result, the entity defendants and each of them are jointly and severally liable to plaintiff in Actual Damages in an amount of at least $996,876.00, and all profits attributable to the infringement thereafter. In the alternative, defendants are liable for Statutory Damages in the amount of $300,000.00, as and for the willful violation of each of plaintiff's copyrighted programs.

FOURTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF: Violation of the Digital Millennium Copyright Act (17 U.S.C. § 1201).

40. Plaintiff repeats and re-alleges paragraphs 1 through 39, as if the same were set forth fully herein.

41. At all times mentioned herein, plaintiff had in force a 25 digit alphanumeric code designed to control access to his copyrighted software. It is only when a legitimate purchaser fulfills his obligation with respect to the terms and conditions of the End User Licensing Agreement (EULA) and pays the appropriate fee, that unlimited access to the licensed product is permitted. When adherence to the EULA was satisfied plaintiff will issue to the licensee a

1 license and provide a legitimate code enabling access to the copyrighted
2 program.

4 42. The code is intended as a technological measure for the purpose of 5 protecting his proprietary program. To gain access requires knowledge of the 6 25 digits issued by plaintiff. It is intended to exclude those who sought to 7 circumvent the code.

9 43. The true number of occasions of acts of circumvention is 10 unknown to plaintiff at this time, but at least twenty-seven occasions have 11 been detected.

13 44. As a consequence of defendants' unlawful and unauthorized 14 circumvention of plaintiff's measures, plaintiff has sustained damages as 15 previously set forth herein.

17 45. The use of the circumvention device to gain access is an 18 intentional and knowledgeable act by the defendants. It is therefore willful
19 and subjects defendants jointly and severally liable for the maximum allowed 20 for Statutory Damages per act of circumvention or $67,500.00, which sum is 21 in addition to any damages awarded for infringement.

24 WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays that the Court issue the following:

25 A. Defendant be enjoined during the pendency of this action and 26
28

1 permanently thereafter from appropriating, using or otherwise benefitting
2 from plaintiff's copyrighted application software identified above without the
4 express written approval of plaintiff or his delegate;

5 B. Defendants be ordered to identify, preserve, set aside and retain 6 any and all source code used by them in the infringement alleged above
7 pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 34, which includes, but is 8 not limited to: (i) all electronically stored information which contains 9 any portion of plaintiff's copyrighted program; (ii) all writings as 10 defined in Federal Rule of Evidence 1001, which refer to or mention in 11 any manner plaintiff's program, except to those items based on 12 privilege;
15

16 C. Pay any and all damages sustained by him as the result of their 17 unlawful acts, with prejudgment interest, as well as account for and pay 18 for all gains and profits they have enjoyed at plaintiff's expense. In 19 particular, Plaintiff demands compensation of at least $300,000.00, 20 in Statutory Damages for infringement of each of his works; or, Actual 21 Damages of at least $996,876.00, plus profits attributable to the infringement, 22 both direct and indirect, according to law; and, $67,500.00 for violation of 23 Section 1201 of the Digital Millennium Copyright Act;
25
26

27 D. Trial by jury;

28 E. All costs of litigation, including, but not limited to costs of suit,

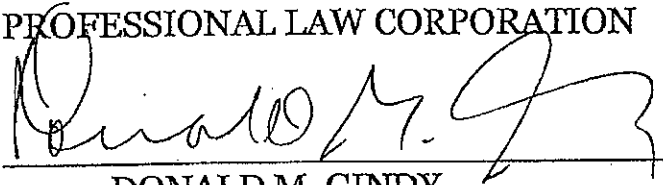

Case 2:09-cv-05899-AHM-E Document 1 Filed 08/12/09 Page 15 of 40 Page ID #:15

F. Such other and further relief as the Court deems just.
